GARNER PLACES BLAME FOR U. S. ILLS ON G. O. P.

2,500-Word Letter to Barkley Is Formal Acceptance.

SAYS TARIFF IS MAIN BASIS OF DEPRESSION

Avers Administration Failed to Meet Crisis Early With Courage.

New York, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Responsibility for "nearly all our civic troubles" was laid to "government's departure from its legitimate functions" by Speaker Garner in accepting the Democratic vice presidential nomination.

With a postage stamp and a 2,500-word letter the Texan broke political precedent by using the mail for his formal acceptance.

The notification message Senator Barkley, of Kentucky, sent to the Speaker and Garner's reply were made public tonight at Democratic national headquarters.

Barkley, as chairman of the notification committee, wrote from Washington, while Gov. Roosevelt's running mate dropped the envelope containing his reply into a mail box at Uvalde, Tex.

"Evidences of Failure."

"The failure to meet the depression emergency courageously at its inception and the enactment of the Hawley-Smoot tariff in the face of an almost universal protest," the Speaker wrote, "are to me the most naked evidences of the failure of the Republican leadership to realize its responsibilities and live up to its obligations.

"If no other errors had been committed, these two things would be amply sufficient to explain the unpopularity of the present administration and the wide confidence that it will not be continued."

In accepting the nomination, he said:

"With full knowledge of the responsibilities and labors involved, I accept the nomination, pledging adherence to the principles and policies enunciated in the party's platform.

Adheres to Platform.

"I give the assurance that such ability as I may possess, and such experience as I have acquired during the 30 years it has been my privilege to serve as a member of Congress, will be directed toward the solution of the problems with which our country is confronted. * * *

"In my opinion nearly all our civic troubles are the consequence of Government's departure from its legitimate functions. * * *

"I have ever been of the belief that attempting to enforce morals by law was as unjustifiable an invasion of the field preempted by the churches and schools, as putting the Government into business is a violence of the Nation's industrial and commercial fabric.

"Government is not a pedagogue, nor a parson, nor a pied piper."

Cleveland's Plane Meet Opens Today

Ohio City Will Be Mecca of Fliers Ten Days at Speed Pageant.

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—The call of speed goes out over the broad expanse of Cleveland Airport tomorrow as the national air races roar into being. For the next ten days Cleveland becomes the mecca of the aviation world. Aerial competition reaches its most spectacular height as nearly 150 racing pilots fight it out for a slice of the $100,000 prize melon.

Tomorrow, appropriately named "Derby Day," the races are inaugurated by the finish of three aerial caravans. Ships of the transcontinental derby from Washington and Los Angeles will end a week's grind at 2:30 p. m., followed shortly by planes from Roosevelt Field, N. Y., flying in the William B. Leeds and Charles Lanier Lawrence Trophy races.

But beneath all of the panapoly of aviation's annual spectacle, lies the goal of the air races—speed.

400 Workers Shut Out By Cotton Mill Strikers

Rockingham, N. C., Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Several hundred striking employes of the Hannah Pickett Cotton Mill No. 1 massed at the entrance to the Entwhistle Cotton Mill No. 1 here today, and succeeded in turning back its 400 workers and forcing a close down.

The sheriff hastily organized a force of deputies to maintain order, and there was no disturbance, but civil authorities expressed considerable apprehension as the officers and former employes on the one side, and strikers on the other, maintained their lines.

Garner Letter Of Acceptance

New York, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—The following correspondence between Senator Alben W. Barkley, of Kentucky, chairman of the committee on notification, and John N. Garner, speaker of the House, is the official notification, of Garner's nomination as the Democratic vice presidential candidate, and Garner's acceptance:

Uvalde, Tex., Aug. 23, 1932.

Hon. Alben W. Barkley, Paducah, Ky.

My Dear Senator—Through you I desire to express to those who were delegates to the Democratic national convention, and to the Democracy of the country, my appreciation of the great honor that has been conferred in selecting me as the party's nominee for Vice President. With full knowledge of the responsibilities and labors involved, I accept the nomination, pledging adherence to the principles and policies enunciated in the party's platform. I give the assurance that such ability as I may possess, and such experience as I have acquired during the 30 years it has been my privilege to serve as a member of Congress, will be directed toward the solution of the problems with which our country is confronted.

The Democratic national convention adopted a platform that is a beacon of confidence to a confused and distressed people. In its nomination for the Presidency our party has presented a leader of ability, resourcefulness and determination.

CONFIDENTIAL AGENT IS NAMED BY BOLIVIA

Dr. Enrique Finot Meplaces Abelli, but Will Not Serve as Minister.

(Associated Press.)

Dr. Enrique Finot, of Bolivia, author of a book on the Chaco boundary dispute with Paraguay, criticizing former Secretary Hughes among others, yesterday replaced Minister Luis O. Abelli, resigned, as his country's principal representative at Washington.

He will serve as "confidential agent" rather than minister, however.

Diplomatic colleagues say the two men have strongly disagreed on Bolivia's policy at Washington in efforts to settle the boundary controversy with the aid of friendly American republics. Abelli has been reported as standing for cooperation with these countries. Finot has fought to limit participation of neutral countries to the exercise of good offices in a strict sense.

Observers wondered if the exchange would prove an omen of the Bolivian reply, expected soon to a request of five neutral countries for a Bolivian proposal to settle the fundamental boundary question permanently. The ninth day of anxious waiting for this categorical clarification of Bolivia's attitude toward a truce which would deny her right to recently captured Paraguayan forts found representatives of the United States, Mexico, Cuba and Colombia meeting to continue their examination of recently reported clashes. The representative of Uruguay, fifth neutral, is in New York.

Finot and Eduardo Diez de Medina, former minister, have been in Washington since November negotiating with Paraguay for a pact of nonaggression. Several weeks ago the ne-

Hastings Says Roosevelt "Sold Out" for Garner

New York, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Senator Daniel O. Hastings, of Delaware, assistant Eastern Republican campaign manager, said tonight that while the Democratic party may not be for sale, the people generally believe that Gov. Roosevelt did sell out when he permitted the selection of Garner for a running mate at the instigation of Mr. McAdoo.

GIRL SECRETARY DESCRIBES NEW SHERWOOD CASH

Law Firm's Employe Is Cross-Examined by Seabury.

SAYS SHE RECEIVED $2,000 FOR HIS USE

Associate of Missing Witness Holds He Has Not Seen Him for Year.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 26 (A.P.).—A hitherto unrecorded account of Russell T. Sherwood, missing figure in the case of Mayor James J. Walker, of New York, was recited to Gov. Roosevelt today by the young woman who took over Sherwood's work after his disappearance.

The young woman, Miss Mildred Day, office secretary for the law firm of which Walker was once a member, was put on the stand as a defense witness in the governor's hearing of demand for the removal of Mayor Walker. The bulk of her testimony, however, was drawn from her by the cross-examination of Samuel Seabury, chief of those calling for the ouster of the mayor.

When her low-voiced testimony was finished she had told Gov. Roosevelt that:

She had received checks sent to Sherwood after his disappearance a year ago and totaling about $2,000.

Put in Her Account.

She had deposited the money in her personal account and her safety deposit box "for safe keeping, knowing he (Sherwood) would ratify anything I did for him."

The last time he visited his office, in August, 1931, she "urged him to take a vacation because he looked so miserable," and he said he might.

The Sherwood matter threaded through a large share of the day's proceedings. Francis J. MacIntyre, a member of the law firm employing Sherwood, pictured the accountant as a "student type of man;" said that he was paid a $3,000 retainer yearly by the firm, and that he had had no communication with Sherwood since the latter came into his office "the latter part of July, 1931."

Police Sought Sherwood.

Police Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney, of New York, testified that Mayor Walker had requested the police department to aid in locating Sherwood after the accountant had disappeared and ignored a subpena to appear before the Hofstadter legislative investigating committee. The committee summoned Sherwood to tell of the details of a joint bank account maintained by Sherwood and Mayor Walker.

Gov. Roosevelt closely questioned Mulrooney on this phase of the Sherwood business.

"Were you, in November, 1931," Mr. Roosevelt asked the police official, "asked by the mayor to give cooperation in the Sherwood case?"

"Yes," said Mulrooney.

"What I'm trying to get at," the governor said, "is did he ever ask you before November, 1931, to cooperate in the search for Sherwood."

"No," Mulrooney said.

Dry Planning to Run In Ninth Ohio District

Toledo, Ohio, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Judge Silas E. Hurin, chairman of the Lucas County division of the Allied Forces for Prohibition, today announced himself an independent candidate for Congress in the Ninth District. He will run on a dry platform against the Republican and Democratic congressional nominees, both of whom have expressed their opposition to the eighteenth amendment.

The Business Upturn

Stocks and Cotton Swept to New Highs for Recovery on Fresh Wave of Buying; Further Gains in Varied Lines of Industry Reported.

(Associated Press.)

Optimistic developments in the business outlook yesterday were:

New York—Financial markets were overtaken by a fresh wave of buying in the late trading, which swept stocks and cotton to new highs for the summer recovery. Markets generally had been rather feeble during the earlier hours of trading, and bonds and wheat failed to recover fully. Bonds come up substantially, however, and net losses at the end of the day were substantially smaller than Thursday's. Wheat slid back nearly a cent a bushel, after Thursday's jump of about 2 cents, but it recovered in the late trading, and final prices at Chicago were only ¼ to ⅜ of a cent under Thursday's final levels. Cotton, after a temporary recession in the morning, finally surged up to the best prices in more than a year. Net gains at the close ranged from $1.10 to $1.20 a bale.

New York—Weekly mercantile reviews reported further gains in lighter lines of industry and in retail trade. Bradstreet's Review said: "Definitely better sentiment of recent weeks has been translated into real activity."

Tulsa, Okla.—A prediction that improvement would continue in the oil industry, made by the official publication of Standard Oil of New Jersey, met agreement by leaders here. Control of crude production, reduction in refinery runs, and a 6,000,000

Oslo Keeping Forlorn Hope For Airplane

Oslo, Norway (Saturday), Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Hoping against hope, several hundred persons remained at the Oslo Airdrome this morning watching for Clyde Lee and John Bochkon, airmen who took off from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, Thursday morning and have not been heard from since.

Airdrome officials calculated that if the fliers had remained aloft their gasoline supply must by this time have been exhausted. But lights were kept burning for them and great projectors swept the darkened sky.

Their plane, the Green Mountain Boy, had not been seen once since the take-off, and weather conditions over the eastern Atlantic were bad.

They had planned on making the nonstop flight in 30 hours. At 11:02 o'clock yesterday morning, Eastern standard time, the 30 hours elapsed.

There were low-lying clouds and some fog over the water to Great Britain from noon on, and because of these conditions it was possible Lee and Bochkon had flown over England without being seen.

DRASTIC TRADE EDICT IS DRAFTED BY REICH

Von Papen to Limit Imports and Bolster Control of Business.

Berlin, Aug. 26 (U.P.).—Chancellor Franz von Papen's cabinet is expected next week to issue an economic emergency decree even more drastic than the edicts of the late Bruening government. The decree probably will provide:

First—Limitation of imports.

Second—A comulsory loan of 2,000,000,000 or 3,000,000,000 marks ($750,000,000) to aid unemployment.

Third—Reduction of the rate of interest to 4 per cent.

These provisions, understood to be scheduled for the opening of the Reichstag on Tuesday, follow along the lines which were put into effect by the harsh decrees issued by former Chancellor Heinrich Bruening.

But the cabinet is expected even to outdo the Bruening program in boldness, determination and intensification of the state control over business.

The details of the decree have not yet been worked out, but observers believe they will be completed for the opening of Parliament, which will bring the chancellor to a serious crisis in his career as head of the Reich.

The deadlock among political factions which has existed since the Reichstag election failed to give any party a majority has remained unchanged in political negotiations the last few days.

All efforts at a compromise which would make formation of a new government possible appear to have collapsed, and, as previously predicted, it is believed Parliament will be dissolved without delay.

Thus, under dictatorial powers granted by the constitution, Col. Von Papen's government is scheduled to continue in power.

Munich, Germany, Aug. 26 (U.P.).—Adolph Hitler, German Fascist leader, was at his country house in the Bavarian Alps tonight discussing the political situation with his aids.

Officials at the Fascit Brown House ridiculed rumors that Hitler was sick or had suffered a nervous collapse. Similar false rumors were circulated earlier this week, they said.

Brazil War Toll Is 8,000 Casualties

This Estimate of Dead and Wounded Is Made at End of Seventh Week.

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, Aug. 26 (U.P.).—The Brazilian civil war has cost more than 8,000 dead and wounded on both sides, it was estimated unofficially tonight at the end of the seventh week of fighting between government troops and th Sao Paulo state forces.

The estimates of casualties, which have never been officially reported, placed the federal dead and wounded combind at about 4,000. The Paulistas were estimated to have lost from 4,000 to 6,000 dead and wounded.

The two outstanding engagements thus far were at the strategic Mantiqueira Tunnel and, last week, in the Bury sector. Official messages described the Bury battle as the largest in modern history of South America from the standpoint of manpower. Casualties were not reported particularly heavy, however.

Business Area of Town In Colorado Is Flooded

Florence, Colo., Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Flood waters of Newland Creek descended on Florence this afternoon, sweeping through the entire business section.

Although no business houses were carried away, nearly all were damaged.

C. M. SCHNEIDER SHOT RESISTING HOLDUP EFFORT

Restaurateur Wounded as He Drives Auto Into Garage at Home.

BANDIT PAIR FLEES AFTER GUN IS FIRED

Bullet Enters Left Chest; Condition Believed Not Serious.

Charles M. Schneider, prominent Washington restaurateur, was shot through the chest early today when he resisted the efforts of two young bandits to rob him at pistol point as he parked his automobile at the rear of his home, 2903 Thirty-second street northwest.

Mr. Schneider, it is understood, left his cafe at 427 Eleventh street northwest about a half hour before the shooting. He drove his car to the rear of his home, as usual, and prepared to drive into the garage.

Found by Neighbor.

He was approached from the darkness by two young white men, one of whom produced a gun and demanded money. Mr. Schneider attempted to resist. Apparently fearing the struggle would attract neighbors, the man with the gun fired one shot, and the pair fled in a waiting automobile.

Edward L. Phipps, next door neighbor, hearing the shot, rushed to the scene and found Mr. Schneider lying wounded on the ground.

Wound Not Serious.

Phipps hurried the injured man to Emergency Hospital, where it was found a bullet had entered Mr. Schneider's right chest and found its exit under his right shoulder. Although the injury was extremely painful, physicians said, it was not considered serious.

Police last night broadcast an outlook for Mr. Schneider's two assailants. One was described as being 27 years old, 5 feet 6 inches in height and weighing 140 pounds. He was dressed in a dark-brown suit, white shirt and dark cap.

Police had no description of the other man. They are believed to be using a small roadster with New York tags.

Franco-American Hopes For Business Pact Dim

Paris, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Hope that the French and American representatives who are negotiating a commercial treaty soon would reach common ground was faintly held out in French ministerial and commercial circles tonight. It was emphasized that as yet there have been no indications of appreciable progress.

Difficulties, according to the French, lie in the difference in customs policies. The United States is asking a most-favored-nation clause and is able to offer only improved administrative regulations in return.

Two Cleared in Nassau Police Brutality Case

Mineola, N. Y., Aug. 26 (U.P.).—The county prosecutor today failed to sustain manslaughter charges against two of the five Nassau County policemen charged with killing Hyman Stark, a former convict, in a police third degree, and the indictments were dismissed.

The trial of the other three continued. Assistant Police Chief Frank Tappen, one of the defendants, was the first defense witness. He denied implication or knowledge of the beating administered Stark in Nassau County police headquarters. He was undergoing cross-examination when court recessed two hours for dinner.

Governors Plan to Ask Board to Hold Cotton

Little Rock, Ark., Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Gov. Harvey Parnell telegraphed governors of all Southern States today, saying: "There will be little necessity of relief from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation if the Federal Farm Board will withhold from the market the 3,000,000 bales of cotton it controls."

The telegram asked the governors to join him in urging the board not to sell its cotton for one year.

200,000 British Cotton Workers Strike Today

Manchester, England, Aug. 26 (U.P.).—The last hope of avoiding a general strike in the great Lancashire cotton industry collapsed tonight when it was disclosed that Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald's government would not intervene to force a compromise between workers and owners disputing a wage reduction.

At least 200,000 operatives will strike tomorrow, refusing to return to their jobs on Monday.

HOOVER HOLDS CRISIS OVERCOME IN BARING RECOVERY PROGRAM

Speech of Hoover Given At Business Conference

Following is the complete text of President Hoover's address yesterday before the national conference of business leaders:

Gentlemen: We have asked you, the members of the twelve Federal Reserve district banking and industrial committees, to confer together and with the officials of the Government agencies which are engaged in the problems of the depression. The purpose of the conference is to better organize private initiative and to coordinate it with governmental activities so as to further aid in the progress of recovery of business, agriculture and employment. The committees of the different Federal Reserve districts were created some time since and have already been of great service in the solution of many local problems. Many constructive projects have been advanced by them. We wish to expand the ideas and solutions developed in the different districts over other areas where they may be adaptable, to coordinate private and governmental agencies, to initiate steps for organization of groups to undertake special and immediate problems in credit, in industry, in agriculture and in employment as they arise in the different districts. In other words, this is a meeting not to pass resolutions on economic questions but to give you the opportunity to organize for action. It is not proposed that you shall have authority from the Government but that you should join in stimulation of organized private initiative of America.

The reason for calling this conference at this particular moment is that we are convinced that we have overcome the major financial crisis—a crisis in severity unparalleled in the history of the world—and that with its relaxation confidence and hope have reappeared in the world.

6-Point Plan Outlined to Leaders.

SPREAD WORK DRIVE SLATED

Credit Expansion Also Mapped At Parley.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

Expressing his conviction that "we have overcome the major financial crisis," President Hoover yesterday told a gathering of some 300 of the keymen of American industry, finance and commerce that a vigorous and well-coordinated national program to expand employment and ease essential commercial credits now would go far toward starting the United States on the high road to economic recovery.

He again advocated the general adoption of spread-work plans, and directed the attention of the financial community to the vital necessity of directing available credits to those enterprises which promise immediate fruits in the direction of expanded industrial activity.

His audience was one of the most notable assemblages of American business men ever gathered in Washington to focus attention on a national economic program. It included pioneers and leaders in every phase of business, from every section of the United States.

Sees Crisis Overcome.

"The reason for calling this conference at this particular moment," the President said in his keynote address, "is that we are convinced that we have overcome the major financial crisis—a crisis unparalleled in the history of the world—and that with its relaxation, confidence and hope have reappeared in the world. We are now able to take further steps in solution of the industrial and agricultural problems with which we are still confronted."

Heralding the end of defensive warfare on the depression front, the President yet warned his audience that much remains to be done before normal business functions are reestablished.

"One of the most stupendous actions on this great front has been the long battle of the last eighteen months to carry our financial structure safely through the world-wide collapse. That battle may be likened to the Battle of Chateau Thierry. That attack on our line has been stopped. But I warn you that the war is not over; we must now reform our forces for the Battle of Soissons."

Work's Progress Studied.

Following the President's address, the business conference devoted itself to an exploration of the achievements of the various reconstruction agencies set up during the last six months and to plotting the course of the new offensive against economic dislocation and distress.

Out of the day's deliberations came a six-point program, through which the business and financial community is pledged to assume the initiative in the new recovery effort. As presented by Secretary of the Treasury Mills, this program is directed entirely to the two basic problems of employment and credits.

Here is the program as outlined by Secretary Mills:

1. The problem of making available credit affirmatively useful to business.

2. To increase employment by the railroads and stimulation of industry through expansion of maintenance

'HOLIDAY' ORDERED ON FORECLOSURES

Fort Announces Moratorium of 60 Days While Home Loan Banks Start.

(Associated Press.)

Foreclosure proceedings on all mortgages in closed banks will be suspended 60 days under a move of wide effect instituted by the Home Loan Bank Board yesterday to protect real estate owners until the new home banks begin to function, about October 15.

National bank receivers were instructed by J. W. Pole, Comptroller of Currency, to hold up proceedings, and Chairman Franklin W. Fort, of the Home Loan Board, requested all State banking commissioners to order liquidators of State institutions to forego foreclosures for two months.

Fort announced the moratorium in addressing President Hoover's national conference of business and industrial committees. He said the foreclosures must stop until the Home Loan Banks begin putting money into the mortgage investment field to ease the pressure on mortgages.

Fort said hundreds of millions of dollars would be saved home buyers and other real estate owners whose mortgages are held by hundreds of banks in the hands of receivers.

"Many of the receivers in their proper effort to pay dividends to depositors and creditors, have been demanding payment of mortgages and bringing foreclosure proceedings," Fort said. "The Reconstruction Corporation can loan to these receivers against the mortgage funds with which to pay out depositors."

Pole's instructions called for the deferment of foreclosures on "first mortgages covering the homes of debtors," but he explained that the broad policy of the Home Loan Board against all foreclosures on real estate mortgages would be followed unless the interest of a trust is jeopardized.

In his telegram to State banking authorities, Fort said the board hoped to have the "Home Loan Banks open and doing business on or before October 15, after which date substation relaxation in the mortgage loan market should develop speedily."

"In the meantime," the message continued, "we feel that foreclosures should be prevented wherever possible. We therefore request you to instruct the receivers or other liquidators of closed institutions under your jurisdiction to withhold or delay foreclosure proceedings for at least 60 days, thus offering chance of preserving equity of owner of real estate."

POMERENE DEFENDS R.F.C.'S OPERATIONS

Declares 37 Per Cent of Nation's Bank Depositors Have Been Aided.

(Associated Press.)

Atlee Pomerene, Democratic chairman of the Reconstruction Corporation, yesterday thundered a reply to criticisms that the corporation had aided large banks and corporations and had not helped small business and individuals.

In his first address since returning to public life, Pomerene told President Hoover's national business and industrial conference that the corporation's loans already had assisted 37 per cent of the Nation's bank depositors.

He said 69.8 per cent of the corporation's loans to banks had been made in towns having populations of 5,000 or less.

In the "battle against depression," he said, "we can not, we must not fail."

But, he added, if the citizens of the Nation generally "have the faith of a grain of mustard seed, we will move mountains."

President Hoover sat close by Pomerene as the latter praised the Reconstruction Corporation's work.

"There has been cirticism," Pomerene said, "by some who are always ready and willing to criticize the Government—no matter what it may do—that provision has been made for large banks and railroads but nothing for the individual. How strange that any thinking man should make such a statement."

Supporting this contention, he said in the six months before the corporation swung into action there had been 1,860 bank failures against 604 in the six months after this period.

All in all, he continued, the corporation to date has made $1,320,000,000 in loans to 5,482 institutions. Adding there had been criticism that most of these loans had been made to large banks, he asserted such a claim "will not bear investigation."

Anti-Japanese Boycott Move Alarms Chinese

Shanghai, China, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Increasing progress of the anti-Japanese boycott movement is causing deep concern in both Chinese and foreign business circles, who fear the present activities may bring a return of conditions similar to those which preceded the fighting here last January.

TOKYO'S MANCHUKUO PACT AWAITED HERE

Capital Postoffice Holding Mail Pending Action on Recognition.

(Associated Press.)

Eager to gauge the possible effect of Japan's projected recognition of the new Manchurian State of Manchukuo set up under its sponsorship, the United States and other powers with interests there are watching for terms of the agreement.

The Postoffice Department meanwhile has before it the question of what to do with Manchukuo mail. Postmaster General Brown expects to get Secretary Stimson's advice on the matter.

China has refused to recognize Manchukuo postage stamps, and will not forward mail to Manchurian points.

Pact Being Written.

Information reaching here is that an agreement preliminary to formal Japanese recognition of the new state is being drawn up by Henry Pu-Yi, set up by Japan as ruler of Manchukuo, and Gen. Muto, of Japan.

One possibility considered by American officials is that the agreement may abolish extraterritoriality in Manchukuo. This would mean that all the treaties which China has made with foreign powers granting foreigners the protection of their own courts in Manchuria would be declared null and foreign interests placed under the jurisdiction of Manchukuo courts.

The salt and customs revenues of Manchuria, which, with similar revenues from other parts of China, are pledged as security for foreign loans, already have been taken over by the Manchukuo government.

Chinese Fund Conserved.

It was stated, apparently on Japanese authority, when these revenues were confiscated, that the proportion of them which China formerly had alloted for foreign payments, would be set aside by the Manchukuo government and made available to China's creditors.

Failure of the Manchukuo government and Japan to carry out such arrangement probably would provoke a firm protest from the United States and other powers to which China is obligated to make Boxer indemnity payments.

American consuls and those of other foreign powers are functioning in Manchuria, although the new state has not been recognized, and it is not expected there will be any interruption of this service.

Assailants of Delivery Boy Are Still Sought

Police last night were still searching for two men who Thursday night bound, gagged and robbed a 15-year-old drug store delivery boy of $24.15 and left him in a vacant apartment in the 2800 block of Connecticut avenue.

The delivery boy, Henry Rinnour, of 3220 Connecticut avenue, employed by the Cathedral Pharmacy at 3000 Connecticut avenue, went to the vacant apartment after some one had called the drug store and ordered several packages of cigarettes, asking that change for a $20 bill be sent with the order.

Competition of U.S. In Cotton Trade Hit

Farm Board Blamed for Low Prices at Memphis Shannon Quiz Hearing.

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 26 (A.P.).—The Federal Farm Board was the target for verbal attacks from cotton planters and shippers today as the Shannon congressional committee turned to the cotton belt in its inquiry into Government competition with private business.

Chairman Joseph B. Shannon, of Kansas City, led the attacks upon Government bureaus with a bristling interview in which he said "anything from a pin to a piano may be bought from Federal stores."

Testifying to alleged Government competition in the cotton business at the opening of the committee hearing, J. W. Garrow, Houston, Tex., a representative of the American Cotton Shippers Association, said that "as long as the agricultural marketing acts stands unamended or unrepealed, this competition will continue imminent, if not actual."

Oscar Johnston, Mississippi delta plantation operator, blamed the Farm Board agencies for what he termed their contribution to the low prices for cotton in recent years and the farmers' seed loan offices for actual competition with the growers in the raising of cotton.

barrel decrease in crude and products stocks since January 1 were regarded as favorable.

Detroit—Officials of Hudson and Essex reported sales for the first three weeks of August increased 2,000 units over the same period in July.

Youngstown, Ohio—Iron and steel prices, regarded as of barometic value, were higher. Heavy melting steel No. 1 sold at $8.50 to $9, a gain of 25 cents for the week.

Breese, Ill.—The Mexican-American hat factory, idle since June, will resume operations next week with 100 employes.

Chicago—A general improvement in the taxicab business since August 1 was reported by the Yellow Cab Co. Ordinarily, business is slack in August, officials said.

Chicago—L. A. Downs, president of the Illinois Central Railroad, said in an address that crop prospects are good generally in the Mississippi Valley and higher grain and live stock prices have improved the economic outlook in the Midwest. He said railroads have effected great economies which should mean more profitable future operation.

Schenectady, N. Y.—The General Electric Co. has recalled 300 employes who will augment the staff of its air conditioning department, the company announced. Operations in this department are on an increasing scale because of larger orders, the company states.

Speech of Hoover Given At Business Conference

We are now able to take further steps in solution of the industrial and agricultural problems with which we are still confronted.

To have overcome this stupendous crisis is not alone a tribute to the courage of American people but a proof of our resources. A moment in review of the magnitude of the forces we have overcome should strengthen our confidence for the future and the steps we now propose.

A Year of Travail.

You will recollect that after a year of world-wide depression we came into the first quarter of 1931 with strong evidences of our recuperation. During those early months of 1931 the failure of banks decreased by 70 per cent from the previous quarter. The hoarding of currency practically disappeared. The signs of resumption of industrial activity and employment gave us the right to hope that the country was righting itself. Then there came to us a concentration of catastrophes from abroad such as we have not experienced in the whole of our economic history. The economic and political demoralization in foreign countries, weakened by the great war and the treaties, together with the general depression itself, loosened a host of new forces of destruction.

The first evidence of the impending financial collapse abroad was the difficulties of the largest bank of Vienna in April a year ago. In rapid succession were the difficulties of the national banks of Austria, of Jugoslavia, and finally of the Reichsbank, in the month of May. The general panic began in Germany in June and finally culminated in drastic governmental decrees suspending exchanges, closing of all banks, and accompanied by the failure of important institutions. Similar suspensions took place in other important areas in Central Europe. The difficulties were further increased by the revolution in Spain and revolutions in Peru and other South American countries, the latter adding many further defaults upon foreign obligations. On the 1st of August evidence of distress in the Bank of England was indicated by heavy borrowing from abroad, further emphasized at the end of August by the large foreign loans by the British government in an effort to protect exchanges. But the strain proved too great, and the gold standard was abandoned by England at the end of September, followed in October and November by similar action in Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Finland, Australia, India and Egypt, with restrictions upon exchange in many other ccuntries, which equally disrupted international payments and foreign trade. In September the conflict in the Far East began, and was followed by the suspension of the gold standard in Japan in December and the disturbing military operations of last winter. During the early months of this year we witnessed more revolutions in smaller countries and further defaults upon their obligations.

Reaction in America.

In even normal times any one of these many shocks to economic stability would have seriously impaired our economic life and created falls of prices and unemployment. The effects upon us of each of these invasions were instantaneous. American securities held abroad were dumped upon our markets. The prices of our stocks and bonds and commodities were continuously undermined. Huge foreign deposits in our banks were frantically withdrawn. Our own borrowers on commodities and on securities were called upon for more margins. The necessity of meetings these drains brought pressure on every borrower in America, whether it be a bank or bank's customer, a manufacturer or a farmer, a home owner or a merchant. Paralyzing fears spread into every quarter of our country. These fears added fuel to the fire through Nation-wide hoarding of currency. This hoarding increased to $70,000,000 a week at the time of the German collapse, but stopped temporarily with the German moratorium, but rose to $150,000,000 a week after the failure in England. The demand for goods slacked over the whole world, and agricultural prices gave way entirely.

Unavoidable delays and difficulties in legislative action added to the fears and apprehensions of our people. As we look back over the depression now we find over $2,400,000,000 was withdrawn from us by foreign nations and their citizens, and a total of $1,600,000,000 of currency was at one time withdrawn by our own citizens from our own banks. You know and I know that this foreign exchange, the gold shipped abroad, the currency and gold hoarded in our own country, is taken from the base of the inverted pyramid of our credit structure and translates itself into a strangulation of the volume of credit from 2 to 10 times even these huge amounts. Let no man believe that these are questions which are of interest solely o big business. They are the origins of millions of human tragedies of losses, unemployment and distress.

The Future Course.

The whole of this eighteen months has been a period of constant defense and counter-attack against these invading forces. The German moratorium, the German stand-still agreement, the advances of our banks to the national banks of foreign countries, the creation of the National Credit Corporation, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the increased powers to the Federal Reserve system, the balancing of the budget, the financial aids to the Farm Loan Banks and, above all, the unity and courage of our people, represent our incessant action in defense and counter-attack.

Today that picture has greatly changed. We can look with assurance upon the cessation of foreign withdrawals from our country simply because they have substantially removed their holdings and we have successfully accommodated ourselves to it. Our strength has proved equal to the shock, although with many casualties. Confidence is returning. A return flow of gold from abroad has begun. Europeans are again investing in our markets. With the large prevention of bank failures and with relief from foreign pressure and its constantly renewed fears, the domestic hoarding of currency has ceased and is now returning at the rate of nearly $20,000,000 a week. The demands for banking assistance from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation have diminished by $170,000,000 from the previous month. That our financial foundations are unimpaired is indicated by the fact that, measured in amount of their trusts, 98 per cent of our banking and fiduciary obligations to the public are intact. Seventy million insurance policies and 25,000,000 depositors have been saved from jeopardy.

Recovery Abroad.

It is not alone our country that is making a successful fight for the return of stability. Foreign countries have not been idle in placing their own houses in order. The Lausanne agreement has contributed to return of confidence. But while we thus see growing improvement in the financial sector, we must continue the battle upon the industrial and agricultural fronts. There is, however, a new setting of the depression, which offers opportunity through this confidence to set up machinery for wider-spread cooperation of private forces and to coordinate them with our Government agencies for aid and action in industrial and agricultural fields.

Definite projects will be laid before you affecting the better distribution of credit of employment and commodities. What I wish is that banking and industry and business generally should in this new setting assume further initiative and responsibility; and they should cooperate with agriculture and labor and the Government agencies to organize and develop every possible avenue of coordinated effort on the economic front. Your committees have in different districts already made positive contributions; these tried methods need spread and more definite national organization; they need coordination with our Government programs. You can assist to make that great program more effective. In so doing you will bring hope and added security to every farmhouse and every cottage door.

It is not proposed to engage in artificialities. Nor is it proposed that you attempt to settle here in a day great economic problems of the future. It is simply proposed that you organize for action in the problems immediately before us. Great future problems will occur to you as they are in the minds of all of us. You will no doubt seek the cooperation of national groups of business, agriculture and labor to put such questions on the road to investigation and consideration.

National Coordination Vital.

I should like to suggest to you some general directions of thought.

We have a powerful governmental program in action for aid to recovery formulated and organized upon a non-partisan basis. I am in hopes you will familiarize yourselves with its possibilities so as to coordinate your activities with it.

We need a better distribution of credit. Credit is available, but in many sections it is flowing inadequately in directions which would stimulate consumption of goods and employment. It needs resolution to use our banking and governmental resources and coordination to make them effective. There can be no question that there are in certain sections large numbers of businesses, particularly small business, which have been unable to find the credit facilities to buy raw material and to employ labor on goods which they can sell. There are difficulties in live stock and farm credits. There are foreclosures of home and farm mortgages because of inability to secure renewals. Yet credit is available if it be properly directed.

Shorter Work Hours.

In the furtherance of business recovery it is clearly necessary that there be coordination of effort in hastening the return of unemployed to employment in their natural industries. It is doubtful whether any action we could take at this time would so greatly accelerate our progress, serve the welfare of our unemployed millions, or so quickly give us as a Nation the benefit of widespread spending power as further spread of equitable plans of sharing the available work. As a matter of national policy, the shortening of hours is necessary not alone to meet the need of the moment but it may be necessary to take up the slack in the future from the vast and sudden advance in labor-saving devices. As the result of conferences similar to this nearly three years ago many industries realigned their operations by shorter hours to retain hundreds of thousands of workers who would otherwise have been dismissed. Nevertheless, the still further spreading of available work in industrial, commercial and service activities, especially with every recovery of employment, would be a vital contribution. Your committee in the twelfth district recently inaugurated a drive for this spread of work. Already it is a great success. Many methods have been proposed by labor and industrial leaders to systematically shorten hours. While I heartily favor the purpose of these plans, I agree with both the employers and the leaders of labor whom I have consulted that its direction is not properly the function of Government, except as applied to the operation of Government service. Moreover, with all the various phases of employment and operation to be met in private business no general rule can be applied. Results must be achieved through cooperation on the part of employers and employes suited to each locality and industry. I suggest you should consider the effective part which you can play in further forwarding organization to this end.

The War Not Over.

I do not need to remind you that the distressing problems of agriculture are not alone the problems of the farmer and the Government. Its relief is one of the primary foundations of all progress in our country, and upon it does the progress of your business depend. It is as much your problem as it is the problem of the farmer, and cooperation of your committees with the leaders of agriculture and the agencies which affect their welfare can not but be helpful.

The other speakers will compass these many questions in detail, and I have but one final word. Now, as always, recuperation of the country will be the result of the multitude of activities of our citizens and the sustained confidence of our people in its great future. The problem before this conference is not to settle great questions of the future, or to establish artificialities, but rather, by practical steps today or organization, contribute to make more effective the activities of every agency which can promote the recovery of the Nation.

The great war against depression is being fought on many fronts in many parts of the world. One of the most stupendous actions of this great front has been the long battle of the last eighteen months to carry our financial structure safely through the world-wide collapse. That battle may be likened to the great battle of Chateau Thierry. That attack on our line has been stopped. But I warn you that the war is not over; we must now re-form our forces for the Battle of Soissons.

Alleged Rum in Car Seized.

Police last night arrested the driver of an automobile near Tenth and Monroe streets northwest and confiscated 140 pints of alleged liquor said to have been stored under the rear seat. The man, who gave the name of Robert O. Neal, 27 years old, of Clarendon, Va., was charged with illegal possession and transportation of the alleged liquor.

ROPER LEAVES DRYS WHO ARE FOR HOOVER

Rebukes Poling's Action by Resigning From Allied Prohibition Forces.

(Associated Press.)

Daniel C. Roper, President Wilson's Commissioner of Internal Revenue, yesterday withdrew from membership in the allied forces for prohibition because, he said, Dr. Daniel A. Poling, head of the organization, had made the dry issue a "football between the two major political parties" by coming out for President Hoover.

"Because I have from its beginning been a supporter of the educational work of the Allied Forces for Prohibition," Roper wrote Dr. Poling, "I feel that I have the right to protest against your recent partisan political action, to which I seriously object.

"When you commit the allied forces, as an organization, to a presidential candidate in this campaign, you thereby work an irreparable damage to the temperance cause. Nothing can be more destructive to it, in Congress and out of Congress, than to make it a football between the two major political parties. This you have deliberately done.

"I had hoped that the individual leaders and members of the Allied Forces Organization would not be called upon to sacrifice their highly anvantageous positions at the council tables of either of the two political parties. Everybody knows that the prohibition question, or the liquor control problem, must be worked out in the Congress composed of members of all political affiliations. It is the will of the people that must ultimately prevail in this matter, and this will of the people must find expression through the Congress. The less partisanship engendered, the more just and constructive will be the result.

"It is therefore to me a source of regret that you have seen fit to endeavor to lead the organization of the Allied Forces into the partisan political arena, and I respectfully request that you cause my name to be removed from your rolls."

Squeals of Admiration Prevent Pearl Thefts

San Francisco, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Because women—even Polynesian girls—exclaim over beautiful pearls, Victor Berge, pearl prospector and merchant, keeps the natives from robbing him of the choicest gems.

"I employ nothing but native girls to open the shells," Berge said today on his arrival on the liner Monowai en route from Tahiti to Paris to market this season's yield of pearls. "Their instinctive admiration for a beautiful stone is so strong that their faces tell me immediately when they open a valuable pearl shell.

"Besides, their squeal of delight gives them away. The system may not be the most modern in the world, but I am sure I have never lost a valuable stone."

Insurance Experts Preparing Reports

Capital Chamber Group to Hear Testimony on Increased Rate.

Testimony of insurance experts will be heard next week by the special committee appointed by Dr. George C. Havenner to obtain facts for the Washington Chamber of Commerce on the 26 9 per cent increase in local employes compensation insurance rates.

The special committee, under the direction of Walter C. Balderston, met yesterday to plan an analysis of the rate increase. W. H. Davis, director of the District of Columbia Compensation Rating Bureau and a representative of the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters, will be heard by the committee next week in support of the increase.

Other members of the committee are: J. W. Lainhart, Jerome Fanciulli, William T. Reed, jr., and Edwin D. Detwiler.

Wheat Growers Plan New Cut in Acreage

(Associated Press.)

Wheat growers have indicated to the Department of Agriculture their intention to plant 39,805,000 acres of winter wheat this fall, as compared with 40,172,000 acres last fall and 43,526,000 in 1930.

and purchase of new equipment in cooperation with the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

3. Increased employment through the sharing of work.

4. The stimulation of the repair and improvement-of-home movement.

5. Assistance of home owners with maturing mortgages.

6. Active cooperation of all banking and industrial committees with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in working out the problems incident to the making of self-liquidating loans for public and semipublic projects and for slum clearance and housing projects, as provided in the emergency relief act; in the aiding of live stock loans by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and the agricultural credit corporations, provided for in the relief act, and in facilitating the adequate functioning of the home loan banks.

In cooperation with the Federal Reserve System, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the home loan banks and the numerous agricultural credit agencies, this rehabilitation program is to be applied to the various regional problems through the activities of the twelve district committees of bankers and industrialists established during the last three months within the twelve Federal Reserve districts.

Headquarters Here.

The work of coordinating the national program would be carried on through the new central executive committee to be established in Washington.

The central executive committee is to be headed by Henry M. Robinson, Los Angeles banker, who long has been an intimate friend and adviser of President Hoover. Besides the chairmen of the twelve regional committees of bankers and industrialists, the executive committee also will include the chairmen of all the Federal agencies engaged in financial or business functions. Through this arrangement the key men in the various regions will be in constant contact with the governmental agencies which are administering the reconstruction program.

Other members of the central executive committee are Secretaries Mills and Chapin, Gov. Meyer of the Federal Reserve Board; Chairman Pomerene and President Miller of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation; Franklin Fort, chairman of the Home Loan Bank Board; Gov. Harrison, of the New York Federal Reserve Bank; Robert P. Lamont, president of the American Iron & Steel Institute; A. W. Robertson, of Pittsburgh, and Jackson E. Reynolds, of New York.

Owen D. Young's Post.

Owen D. Young, chairman of the General Electric Co., and chairman of the committee of bankers and industrialists set up in New York three months ago, is to head the first committee of the general conference. To this committee has been assigned the execution of the first point in the six-point program, that of directing available credit into those channels in which it will most promptly stimulate employment and trade.

The entire program of the conference is to be carried out on a strictly nonpartisan basis.

"The usefulness of the central committee," Secretary Mills told the conference, "will depend in large measure on the degree to which you gentlemen turn to it for cooperation and for the interchange of ideas. Aside from the work to be carried on by the Government agencies, the major part of the task and the real field for usefulness of the banking and industrial committees is in developing means and methods for solving the problems arising in your own districts. This meeting will have fulfilled a major purpose if each of you carries away with him a more complete understanding of the agencies that are available for the work of rehabilitation and the fields in which they can cooperate."

As a positive and immediate step to relieve hard-pressed home owners who face foreclosures as the result of bank failures, Chairman Fort, of the Home Loan Bank Board, announced an agreement with Federal banking authorities to halt all such liquidations for a period of 60 days. In the interval, according to present plans, the new home loan banks will begin operations.

Committees Confer.

Chairman Pomerene told the conference of the recently broadened program of the R. F. C. and Gov. Meyer explained in detail the points at which Federal Reserve policy can be linked indirectly with the new national program.

At the conclusion last night of the all-day plenary session in the Department of Commerce Auditorium, the committees appointed to stimulate prompt execution of the six-point program went into session in various parts of the building to lay the groundwork for their respective campaigns. Some of these committee conferences will continue through today.

Although the business and financial leaders were not timid in their discussion of the stark fundamentals of the present posture of world economy, the general conferences were memorable for their dominant note of confidence and reasoned optimism. Time and again this note was heard throughout the day, here in an informal exchange between old friends and there in the deliberate pronouncements of those who have guided gigantic enterprises through the depression shoals. Briefly, this new confidence grows out of the recent upward trend in several of the basic indices of business, the upturn in commodity prices, the sharp increase in security values during the last two months and the renewed inflow of gold from abroad after a long period of excessive withdrawals.

Hoarding Decreasing.

As a result of these encouraging factors, bank deposits are increasing, hoarded money is returning to circulation at the rate of approximately $25,000,000 a week and demands upon the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for emergency credits have been $170,000,000 less during the last month than in the previous 30-day period.

Summarizing the results of the reconstruction program as an omen for the immediate future, President Hoover reminded the conference that "our financial foundations are unimpaired."

"Measured in the amount of their trusts," he added, "98 per cent of our banking and fiduciary obligations to the public are intact. Seventy million insurance policies and 25,000,000 depositors have been saved from jeopardy."

Four-Day Search Fails To Find Teacher's Body

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Aug. 26.—Four days of searching the woods and swamp lands over a large area four miles west of Annapolis have failed to reveal any trace of the body of Miss Marjorie Fletcher, 37-year-old school teacher of Forestville, N. Y., who leaped to her death from an airplane while on a sightseeing trip from Washington to Annapolis last Tuesday. Miss Fletcher made the suicide jump from a craft piloted by Roger Scott, from the corps of the Hoover Airport, in Washington.

The hunt is directed by Sheriff R. Glenn Prout, of Anne Arundel County, and his chief deputy, Fernando Weems. Rewards totaling $50 have spurred the efforts of the searchers.

TEXAS VOTES TODAY WITH GARNER SILENT

"Ma" Ferguson and Sterling Vie for Governorship in Bitter Run-Off.

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Another campaign charged with vituperation and personal animosity closed in Texas tonight between former Gov. Miriam A. (Ma) Ferguson and Gov. Ross S. Sterling, with Speaker John N. Garner refusing to take sides in tomorrow's Democratic gubernatorial run-off primary.

The Democratic vice presidential candidate said at his home in Uvalde he did not care to comment on a last-minute plea of R. B. Creager, Republican national committeeman, that Garner urge his friends to vote for Sterling.

Creager declared he acted in no partisan spirit in asking that Garner say a word "to the end that our beloved State be saved from the unthinkable misfortune of a return of the Fergusons to control."

If the State follows precedent, the victor in tomorrow's run-off will be the next Governor of Texas. The Republicans, however, have expressed strong hope of electing their party nominee, Orville Bullington, of Wichita Falls, in November.

"Ma" Ferguson, backed by her husband, James E. Ferguson, impeached governor, led Sterling, serving his first term, by almost 105,000 votes in the first primary last month. She polled about 42 per cent of the nearly 1,000,000 ballots cast. Sterling was favored by about one-third of the Democrats who voted.

It was expected many Negroes would vote tomorrow. Court action by Negroes to forestall any attempt of election officials to enforce a mandate of the State party convention barring any but white Democrats from the polls, failed to establish the legality of such an order.

Three members of Congress at large are to be nominated. Joseph Weldon Bailey, of Dallas, son of a former United States Senator from Texas, and J. H. Cyclone Davis, of Sulphur Springs, 77-year-old former representative, are opponents for one seat. George B. Terrell, former State commissioner of agriculture, and Pink Parrish, of Lubbock, State senator, are candidates for another place, and the third position is sought by Sterling P. Strong, of Dallas, and Joe Burkett, of San Antonio.

Several organizations favoring modification or repeal of the eighteenth amendment had recommended Bailey, Terrell and Burkett.

$350,000 Relief Fund Applications Increasing

Applications for aid from the $350,000 unemployment relief fund have slightly increased during the last few weeks, it was announced yesterday by Leroy A. Halbert, director of the special relief.

The relief committee is far behind in taking care of the 6,500 applications on file, he declared, but volunteer investigators are greatly aiding the huge task.

Hutchinson Still Delayed by Storm

Von Gronau Will Not Continue World Flight Until September.

Port Menier, Anticosti Island, Quebec, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—With no sign of improving weather conditions, the "Flying Hutchinsons" remained here today. Philosophically, George Hutchinson, his wife, two young daughters and crew of four waited for better weather so they might continue on their trip to Europe by the northern route.

Dutch Harbor, Alaska, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Capt. Wolfgang von Gronau, who arrived last night from Cordova with three companions in his flying boat, will not continue his globe-girdling flight until September 1 or later. He is awaiting the arrival of the steamship Derblay, due September 1, with a supply of gasoline.

New York, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Capt. James A. Mollison again had to postpone his return flight to Europe today, because of unfavorable weather. He learned from the Weather Bureau that flying conditions were bad all the way across the ocean.

CONFIDENTIAL AGENT IS NAMED BY BOLIVIA

gotiations were interrupted when the Paraguayan delegates were ordered home, their foreign office complaining of Bolivian "aggressions" during the negotiations.

One of them, Dr. Juan Jose Soler, returned to Washington, but the Bolivians meanwhile had scouted the value of the negotiations, and efforts of the neutrals, aided by Argentina, Brazil, Chile and Peru, have been directed for weeks to preventing open hostilities between the two countries. Once all nineteen American republics united in a stern declaration against recognizing any conquest of territory by armed force.

Enrique Lozardo, legation secretary, announced yesterday that Bolivia had appointed a committee, under the chairmanship of the foreign minister, to cooperate with and advise the Secretary of State on the Chaco question. The committee was composed of the vice president of the republic, the leaders of the four political parties, the speaker of the House, the president of the Senate, and chairmen of the foreign relations committees of both houses.

Chile Planning Parley To Settle Chaco Dispute

Santiago, Chile, Aug. 26 (U.P.).—The Chilean foreign ministry, it was learned reliably today, is endeavoring to persuade Bolivia and Paraguay to send delegates to a conference to be held either here or in Buenos Ayres which would attempt a "definite and absolute settlement of the Chaco dispute."

The conference would be attended by delegates from Argentina, Brazil and Chile and also possibly from Peru and the five neutral Nations, including the United States, which have unsuccessfully attempted to arbitrate the 50-year-old dispute.

ROY HUNT APPEARS AIR DERBY WINNER

Reaches Cincinnati After Losing His Way; Last Leg Flown Today.

Cincinnati, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Although he lost his way and flew in the tail end of both divisions, Roy Hunt, of Norman, Okla., tonight practically had captured the trophy cup of the transcontinental air derby.

With 1,591 points to his credit and with the remaining leg of the race to Cleveland to be run tomorrow, Hunt's closest competitor was Eldon Cessna, of Wichita, Kans., with 1,325.96 points. Hunt failed to score a point in the race from Indianapolis.

J. C. (Jiggs) Huffman roared into his home town in the lead of the derby as nearly 13,000 Cincinnatians yelled themselves hoarse. He swept over Lunken Airport at 4:25 p. m. (E. S. T.) leading the Eastern division, the first to arrive.

Four minutes behind Huffman was J. D. Crane, of New Haven, Conn.; Harold Newman, of Moline, Ill., was third; P. A. Sturtevant, of Elmhurst, Ill., fourth, and Melville Robinson, of Mount Clemens, Mich., fifth.

Art Carnahan, of Bloomington, Ill., paced the Western Division, arriving at 6:05 p. m. Cessna was a close second. J. S. McDonnell, of Cleveland, Ohio, was third; Waldo Waterman, of Santa Monica, Calif., fourth, and J. L. O'Donnell, of Long Beach, Calif., fifth.

Five leaders by points in the Eastern Division are: Huffman, 1,071.75; Chappy Lennox, New Haven, Conn., 1,036.95; Fred Dorset, Augusta, Ga., 826.8125; Helen McCloskey, Pittsburgh, Pa., 647.20, and Crane, 429.85.

Point leaders in the Western Division: Hunt, 1,591; Cessna, 1,325.96; Carnahan, 1,038; Gladys O'Donnell, Long Beach, Calif., 494.675, and J. S. McDonnell, Cleveland, Ohio, 361.7.

The derbyists will hop off at 9:30 tomorrow morning for Akron, Ohio. After a stop there they will zoom into Cleveland to finish the race.

Two Washington Men Put in Marlboro Jail

Two persons were committed to the Marlboro Jail yesterday when they were unable to pay fines inposed in the Marlboro police court on charges of assault and battery and driving while drunk. James Rodney, who gave his address as 1034 Euclid street northwest, was fined $25 for disorderly conduct and $25 for assault on Sergt. A. W. Hepburn. Rodney must serve out the sentence at the rate of $1 a day.

Walter C. Ridgeway, who said he lived on North Carolina avenue, also was committed to jail when he was unable to pay a fine of $100 for driving while drunk. Samuel Pearson, of 513 Peabody street northwest, was held for the grand jury in bond of $100 on charges of destroying private property. A car driven by Pearson, police said, tore up 50 feet of privet hedge on the property of Dr. James I. Boyd at Forestville.

ARCHDUKE TO FACE CHARGES IN REVOLT

Carlos, Hapsburg-Bourbon, Held in Barcelona; Sanjurjo Begins Life Sentence.

Madrid, Aug. 26 (U.P.).—Archduke Carlos of Hapsburg-Bourbon, descendant of a family once powerful in Europe, tonight became a prominent figure in the Spanish republic's investigation of the recent monarchist rebellion.

While the rebel leader, former Gen. Jose Sanjurjo, was led away to begin life imprisonment in an ordinary cell at Dueho Prison, the young archduke was held incommunicado at Barcelona, whence he may be removed to Seville for examination.

Shortly after his detention by Barcelona police last night, the governor of Seville, Jose Calvino, asked authorities to send him to Seville to face charges in connection with the uprising. The archduke, who is the brother-in-law of Princess Ileana of Roumania, was arrested while driving his automobile, bearing a monarchist insignia.

He has been a resident of Barcelona since the fall of the Austrian dynasty after the World War.

The removal of Sanjurjo to prison was accomplished quietly.

200,000 PREDICTION FOR SEAGIRT TODAY

Roosevelt Gets 9-Point Dry Quiz on Eve of His "Wet Broadside."

New York, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Gov. Roosevelt's "prohibition broadside," as his campaign managers call it, is expected by New Jersey leaders to draw 200,000 Democrats to the seashore tomorrow.

Four Army units and 600 policemen have been assigned to handle the crowd that will gather near the "Little White House" at Seagirt, N. J., to hear the Democratic standard bearer.

While preparations were being made tonight for the Seagirt gathering, the New York Antisaloon League asked Roosevelt to answer "fearlessly nine prohibition questions in his speech."

As set forth in a letter to the governor from Fred A. Victor, State superintendent, they are:

"Are you now prepared to say that a drinking man's a social asset and a present help to the Democratic party? * * *

"If you permit the legal sale of a beverage containing varying quantities of alcohol, how can you prevent an increasing number of alcoholic addicts?

Increase of Consumption.

"From 1875 to 1914 the per capita consumption of intoxicating liquor in the United States increased from 8.67 gallons to 22.66 gallons. Do you believe that this increased consumption of liquor made any constructive contribution to American civilization?

"Do you believe that it added anything to the physical efficiency, the commercial prosperity or the political integrity of the American people?

Are you willing to assert that a legal liquor traffic of the volume of 1914 will add to the strength of our manhood, the joy of our womanhood and the happiness of our children? * * *

"Can you give any satisfactory assurance that a present-day liquor traffic would be law-abiding?"

In posing the next question the letter quoted a professor to the effect that prohibition is diverting not less than $5,000,000,000 a year "which would be normally spent on alcoholic drinks, were it not for prohibition, to other classes of commodities and to saving.

"Do you wish to destroy this volume of legitimate business to make a liquor holiday?" the letter continued.

"If you feel called upon to repeat the old proliquor prattle that the law is violated, liquor manufactured and sold illegally, and that certain public officials are corrupted, will you tell us, please, what you have done as Governor of New York to end these abuses?

"And, finally, if you favor the re-establishment of a legal liquor traffic, will you tell your countrymen just what benefits will come to them through this business?"

Funds Response Begins.

James A. Farley, national chairman, who will accompany the governor to Seagirt tomorrow, expressed himself "highly pleased" with the response thus far to the appeal for campaign contributions made last night by Gov. Roosevelt and three others.

Dr. M. Collier, a dentist, was waiting at national headquarters with a $1 bill when the office staff arrived. Several others who had hoped to be the first contributors were in line behind him. Before noon, Mr. Farley, said, 186 small contributions, totaling $697.50, had been received, in addition to numerous somewhat larger ones.

A statement from J. Bruce Kremer, national committeeman from Nebraska, said:

"I find that the independent Republicans in the Rocky Mountain States and in Minnesota are just as strong for Gov. Roosevelt as are the Democrats. * * *

"Men are not going to step out of the bread lines to cast their ballots for the reelection of Herbert Hoover and the Republican administration."

YoungG.O.P.Body Plans League of 28,000,000

Chicago, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Formation of a national political organization for 28,000,000 voters under 36 years of age was announced tonight at Republican national campaign headquarters.

The organization, named the National Young Republicans League, will be headed by George Olmstead, of Des Moines, Iowa, 31-year-old former president of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce.

GARNER LETTER FORMALLY ACCEPTING

Gov. Roosevelt has won the Nation's confidence by his statesmanship, his sympathetic grasp of human problems, his courage in meeting emergencies and overcoming obstacles. With a platform clear and concise in dealing with the issues, and a presidential candidate whose ideals are embodied therein, the Democratic party can look forward with confidence to the expression of the popular will in November.

There are just two things to this Government as I see it. The first is to safeguard the lives and properties of our people; the second to insure that each of us has a chance to work out his destiny according to his talents. This involves protecting him from being injured or oppressed by those of superior acquisitiveness, and perhaps less conscience, who seek to strain the rules to their own advantage.

In my opinion nearly all of our civic troubles are the consequence of government's departure from its legitimate functions. Our increased population and new conditions arising from new inventions often make it necessary to change the rules in order to keep the balance between the people and those who would exploit them. Unfortunately, these changes and adjustments result too often in enhancing instead of diminishing the evils.

Convenience of Civilization.

It is not the business of government to make individuals rich, though too often has government been bent to that purpose. Nor is it a function of an administration to direct the personal affairs of mankind, except in so far as it places a bar against such things as involve injury, loss or discomfort on others. I have ever been of the belief that attempting to enforce morals by law was as unjustifiable an invasion of the field preempted by the churches and schools as putting the Government into business is a violence of the Nation's industrial and commercial fabric.

Government is not a pedagogue, nor a person, nor a pied piper; it is merely a convenience of civilization by which a set of rules is enforced on a community in the interest of order and justice.

Had it not been for the steady encouragement of Federal Government on the rights and duties reserved for the States we perhaps would not have the present spectacle of the people rushing to Washington to set right whatever goes wrong. But successive administrations have encouraged this spirit of dependence on government either because of the lust for additional power on the part of Federal officials, or simply because of a blind insistence on the Hamiltonian principle of a strong centralized government, as opposed to the Jeffersonian idea of giving to the administration at Washington only such functions as the States themselves can not perform. This is not the time or place for a dissertation on the ancient conflict between two schools of government. The gravitation of power to Washington has builded a structure of administration vast beyond the imagination of the builders of the Constitution—complex, involved and uncoordinated; a fabric of bureaus, commissions, boards and departments that overlap and interfere one with the other—and all at the cost of the people.

Leaders Held Responsible.

I am fully cognizant of the distress which prevails and the magnitude of the problem confronting the country. Outside influences over which we have no control are not wholly accoutnable for the depression and its attendant unemployment and distress, as President Hoover contends. It is true that these are contributing factors, but the major causes can be found in the record of national legislation and the national policies for which the Republican leaders are wholly responsible.

The Republican party has failed to adapt its policies to changing conditions; to recognize that the evolutionary processes of government must go forward to meet ever-changing human needs. Despite the fact that experience has proved the fallacy and inadequacy of many of their policies, their spokesmen inform us there will be no change—that these policies, which have proved so disastrous, will be adhered to so long as they remain in power.

They ignore the fact that the unprecedented era of speculation which preceded the bursting of the bubble in 1929 was hailed by Republican leaders as a prosperity of their own making. Much of the loss the people sustained was the direct consequence of the baseless optimism of an administration that dealt with the people as though they were frightened children instead of men and women entitled to the truth from their Government.

Smoot-Hawley Tariff.

They ignore the foreign tariffs retaliatory to our Smoot-Hawley bill, which have caused a tremendous decline in our import and export trade and stagnation of commerce throughout the world. They make no mention of their failure to enact remedial legislation when it became obvious that this cutting off of international commerce coincident with the bursting of the speculative bubbles had produced unparalleled economic and financial distress.

After long delay, during which they continued to lull the Nation by insisting that the end of our trouble was just around the corner, while banks were toppling and unemployment was increasing, administration leaders finally admitted that the situation needed action.

Temporary measures offered by the administration have not been adequate to insure anything approaching prompt and general relief. Liberalization of these measures by the Democratic majority in the House was defeated by the administration.

These Democratic changes were not attempted with a view of imposing a greater financial burden on the Government. They were meant to achieve the best results in dereasing unemployment, rehabilitating industry and stabilizing economic conditions. Charges of demagogy, emanating from the White House, greeted every effort to enact a bill that would meet the credit and employment needs of the country.

Unbalanced Budget.

Whatever view may be held as to the so-called business cycle; whatever may be real in the theory that business panics inevitably follow great wars, the fact remains that the master element of our trouble, the unbalanced budget, lies on the doorstep of the Republican party. Through administration after administration, Republican officials have so conducted our fiscal affairs as to change a large Treasury surplus into a deficit of three billion in the space of less than twelve years.

It is the business of government to maintain some measure of relation between the receipts and expenditures of government; to adjust taxes to the requirements of the Treasury; to curtail expenditures to bring them within income.

This three-billion-dollar deficit was not born overnight. It has been developing and growing for three years, but not until the advent of the present Democratic majority in the House was there any effort on the part of the executive to balance the budget. This necessitated a huge increase in taxes. Had the tax increases been made gradually as the deficit developed, our budget would be balanced today without confusion. The country would not have experienced anything like the suffering and distress resulting from the sudden imposition of war-time rates on a people already bowed by economic burdens.

25 Per Cent Reduction.

The Republican platform, as usual, carries a retrenchment plank couched in vague, elusive terms—a striking contrast to the Democratic platform, which demands a reduction of at leat 25 per cent in expenditures. Republicans have been in power for eleven years. They promised economy in 1920 and 1924. And in 1928 they gave assurance of maximum efficiency at minimum cost. Despite their pledges, the costs of Government have mounted steadily. They were $3,848,000,000 in the first Hoover year. They were over five billion in the fiscal year just closed.

Every effort of the slim Democratic majority in the House to effect real governmental saving during the last session of Congress met the opposition of the administration. While proclamations and exhortations to curb Federal expense were being issued from the White House, Department heads and division chiefs were appearing before the House economy committee opposing reductions which would affect their respective departments or divisions. There is not a single saving that Congress was called on to effect that could pot have been put in operation at any time since the incipiency of the depression by the President himself. No act of Congress was required to give him authority to tell his cabinet officers that they must keep their expenses within a specific amount.

The economy plank in the Democratic platform is a guarantee that the President will not attempt to pass this buck to Congress. I speak with confidence in stating that Democratic Cabinet officers will extend required cooperation. Congress will not be compelled, as it was during the last session, to meet the opposition of forces within the administration whenever an effort was made to eliminate unnecessary expenditures or to check the growing bureaucracy.

The Democratic economy plank is not vague. It carries a specific proposal and a definite pledge. Under a Democratic administration that pledge will be redeemed.

The Democratic tariff plank is equally definite and constructive, and must have a strong appeal to industrialists, farmers, labor and businesss men, who all suffered by the wrecking of our foreign trade under the embargo rates. With the hilghest tariff in the country's history, unemployment and its attendant human misery prevails, consequently standards of living are rapidly declining. It is obvious that American standards can not be reestablished and maintained under a policy which throttles commerce, industry and business. Republican speakers from the President down assert that there will be no departure from this policy so long as their party retains control.

In dealing with prohibition there was no attempt by the Democratic national convention to evade the issue. Unlike the prohibition plank of the Republican platform, which leaders of that party are interpreting to conform with the sentiments of their audiences, the Democratic plank is unequivocal, understandable by every person who has sufficient intelligence to read. We stand committed to repeal, and urge "enactment of such measures by the several States as will actually promote temperance, effectively prevent the return of the saloon and bring the liquor traffic into the open and under complete supervision and control by the States.

State Liquor Control.

No other constructive solution of the problems the eighteenth amendment brought upon the country has been offered. Return of control and supervision to the States, where it rightfully belongs, should be welcomed by all who realize the growth of the evils which followed placing of this power in the hands of the Federal Government.

With regard to the foreign debt, I fully subscribe to the Democratic platform's statement. I oppose cancellation. I believe we can lessen the seriousness of the problem of collecting our just dues if we restore a just tariff policy. We must be fair and just, not only to foreign nations, but to American taxpayers as well. We must be constantly on our guard against what seems to be a growing pressure from both European and American sources for cancellation, a policy which I consider to be a policy of despair and of defeatism.

The lack of a definite foreign policy under successive Republican administrations has proved embarrassing to this country. The only visible results of our foreign policy has been the reduction of war debts more than 40 per cent and an increase in taxes. In lieu of a definite foreign policy we have a horde of observers, commissioners, delegates and special representatives whose activities appear to consist principally of cabling optimistic reports of their progress.

Vast Responsibility.

The failure to meet the depression emergency courageously at its inception and the enactment of the Hawley-Smoot tariff in the face of an almost universal protest are, to my mind, the most naked evidences of the failure of the Republican leadership to realize its responsibilities and live up to its obligations. If no other errors had been committed, these two things would be amply sufficient to explain the unpopularity of the present administration and the wide confidence that it will not be continued.

The indicated imminence of victory brings with it Democracy's vast responsibility. There is less elation at the prospect of success in November than awe that in our hands is about to be placed the destinies of our country; the happiness of our people. To be adequate to this trust will take the last ounce of our energy, our ability, our devotion. In Franklin Roosevelt we will have a President whose courage, humanity and skill in government have been proved in his years of public service. For my part, I pledge myself to do my utmost to the limit of my capacity. Sincerely yours, JOHN N. GARNER.

Barkley's Letter.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 20, 1932.
Hon. John N. Garner,
Uvalde, Tex.

My dear Mr. Speaker: The ill fate which has overtaken our country in recent years, and still hangs over it like a menacing cloud, for which the incompetent leadership of the Republican party is largely responsible, calls again to the Democratic party for guidance and control in both the legislative and executive branches of our Government.

For nearly twelve years the Democratic party both in and out of office has opposed and protested against the policies which have brought us to the verge of disaster, and in their lieu has brought forward and urged the institution of programs which would have prevented its inception or its possibility.

For the past four years we have been compelled to witness such vacillation and lack of consecutive purpose on the part of the executive department and such aimless opportunism on the part of the leadership of the Republican party in Congress as to destroy the confidence of the people in such policies as they have advanced and in their ability to formulate a constructive or fundamental program either to forestall misfortune or to alleviate it when produced by them.

Having in mind these failures, and having in mind the right and the demand of the American people for the inauguration of policies framed for the benefit of all the people and not for any special class alone and for a leadership sufficiently intelligent and courageous to understand the problem and seek its solution, the Democratic party met in national convention in the city of Chicago on the 27th of last June to deal with the questions which face the Nation and which must be solved in the immediate future if the people are to hope for a return to a normal life of happiness and prosperity.

Progressive Pronouncement.

That our convention dealt with these questions fearlessly and in language that is easily understood even our opponents can not deny. The Democratic platform adopted at Chicago is the most intelligent, constructive and sanely progressive pronouncement adopted by any political party in this country in recent years. Its simplicity and directness must appeal to the people as a whole. Its unwillingness to deceive them or to mislead them or leave them in doubt as to its meaning or intention must be a relief from the burdensome excess of language employed by the Republican convention to multiply the confusion of the people.

On that platform our convention has nominated candidates unexcelled in experience, wisdom and ability, or in devotion to the task which that convention and that platform have set for them.

As temporary chairman of the national Democratic convention, and as chairman of the committee on notification appointed for that purpose, it is my proud and happy privilege to convey to you official notice of your nomination as the Democratic candidate for Vice President of the United States.

Long Congress Experience.

This nomination was not the result of a desire to pay you a mere compliment. The convention recognized your long experience in Congress, your wise counsel over a period of 30 years in the framing of important and historic legislation, your great contribution to the brilliant record of Democratic legislation, since the beginning of the Wilson administration, your rugged honesty, your plain and unassuming attitude toward the responsibilities of your high station, your loyalty to the true ideals of American life and your unselfish devotion to those ideals in private and official life.

For fourteen years I had the honor and the pleasure of serving with you in the lower house of Congress. It gives me, therefore, not only personal pleasure and pride to be the instrument through whom notice of the great honor you have received is conveyed to you, but to confirm from my own association and experience the high estimate of your statesmanship which your country and your fellow citizens have already formed.

With the able, engaging and militant governor of New York, Franklin D. Roosevelt, as our candidate for President, with you as our candidate for Vice President, with a platform of principles so clear and so honest as to eliminate every doubt of ability or good faith, I predict for the Democratic party an overwhelming victory at the polls in November.

I congratulate you upon the great part you have played and the even greater part you are to play in the history of our country.

Sincerely yours,
(Sgd.) ALBEN W. BARKLEY,
Temporary Chairman and Chairman Committee on Notification of Candidate for Vice President.

Reich Bond Profit Set at $50,000,000

Brookings Institution Expert Fixes Earnings of U.S. Bankers on Deals.

American bankers have received net profits of approximately $50,000,000 from German loans floated in this country since 1923, it was estimated yesterday by Brookings Institution.

Whether these profits have been excessive, the institution's study did not try to judge. The report stated: "No scientific answer can of course be given to such a question since the term excessive implies a moral judgment."

The calculations from which the figures are taken are derived from a close analysis of the Senate hearings of last winter on foreign security sales in the United States. The study was made by Dr. Robert R. Kuczynski.

The bankers' profits were made on a volume of business aggregating $1,280,000,000—the purchase price paid by the bankers for the loans—the report said.

VIOLENCE RESUMED IN COAL MINE AREA

Illinois Worker Is Injured While Second Invasion Is Secretly Planned.

Zeigler, Ill., Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Violence was resumed in the Franklin County mine wage controversy tonight, when Frank Moulin, examiner for one of the mines here, was wounded by shotgun fire. His left arm was torn by the charge.

The shot was fired from an automobile that passed as Moulin was standing in the yard at his home. The mine examiner was a supporter of the $5 wage contract recently adopted and which was protested by the strikers from central and northern Illinois, who were repulsed Wednesday by Deputy Sheriffs when they attempted to invade Franklin County to picket the mines.

Gillespie, Ill., Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Secret plans were made today by the strike committee of miners for a second invasion of southern Illinois coal fields by swift moving units operating from bases surrounding the operating mines.

The committee, director of the 9-mile motorcade of about 15,000 persons, which was repulsed by bullets and clubs at the Franklin County line Wednesday night, said it would not give out details regarding the contemplated new offensive. The strikers are protesting a new $5 basic wage scale.

No large unwieldy group, however, will stage the second march, the committee said. Several thousand men, committeemen said, will be placed at strategic points surrounding southern counties and will be directed from four bases, located so that contact can be maintained with Kentucky, Indiana and Oklahoma miners who plan to join the movement.

Violence flared again today with Ray Tombozzi, Taylorville miner, reporting a bomb damaged his house. Tombozzi said another bomb failed to explode. Christian County authorities said investigation failed to reveal responsibility for the bombing. Tombozzi is at liberty on bond on charges of disorderly conduct as a result of picketing one of the Peabody mines.

Gov. Murray Says U. S. Could End Farm Strike

(Associated Press.)

Telegrams have been received by both James C. Stone, chairman of the Farm Board, and Secretary Hyde, from Gov. W. H. Murray of Oklahoma, suggesting that the farmers' holiday strike movement would be halted if the Farm Board would announce its intention not to sell for the present its cotton holdings.

No replies have gone forward yet, but it was indicated that the Oklahoma Governor would receive the same answer from the Farm Board as have others making similar suggestions. The board's position has been that it would dispose of 650,000 bales during the current year to the extent possible without upsetting prices or harming the farmer.

Women's Party Urges Business Impartiality

IOWA FARM HOLIDAY PICKET LINE HOLDS

Uncertain Peace Hangs Over Camps as Movement Continues to Spread.

Council Bluffs, Iowa, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—An uncertain peace hung over the scattered camps of farmers' holiday pickets today as reports of a gradual spread of the antimarketing movement were received.

Picketing continued on two highways leading into this city, where yesterday a thousand strike sympathizers threatened to storm the county jail to release arrested comrades, but the danger that led Sheriff P. A. Lainson to mobilize 200 deputies appeared to have passed. The prisoners were released on bonds last night.

Instead of the 3,000 men gathered in the picket camps about here at one time last night, only small groups blockaded United States highways 34 and 75 today, and they picketed peacefully. Trucks were stopped and the drivers persuaded to return home.

A similar situation existed at Sioux City, where strike leaders maintained that picketing had become so effective in the Sioux City market territory that few attempts were being made to run their blockades.

The strike movement today spread to Shenandoah, Iowa, and Blair, Nebr.; a threat of tightening the blockade at Spencer, Iowa, was made unless produce houses closed, and plans were perfected to begin picketing on highways leading into Des Moines early tomorrow.

The thousand northwest Iowa farmers who came here yesterday with the intention of storming the county jail if the prisoners were not released, boarded their trucks and headed homeward or to assist in strike activities at other points.

THE SATURDAY FOOD AND HOME ECONOMICS PAGE

Appearing Each Week in The Washington Post

RECIPES REQUESTED FOR PROTEIN FOODS

Are Valuable in Building Up New Tissues in Body and Good for Repairs.

More and more the homemakers who read the Saturday food page in The Washington Post are beginning to realize the great value to be found in the so-called efficient protein foods, such as milk, eggs, cheese, meats, poultry, fish and certain legumes, peanuts and soy beans. These foods are used by the body to special advantage in building new tissues and in the repair of old ones.

The Englishman choosing from these foods would select probably a joint of meat, if only to live up to his reputation as "beef eater;" the Chinese would take soy beans eagerly; no European would go away without some of the many kinds of cheese, and every one would try to take some kind of milk, especially for the young people in his family. For of all the protein foods, whole milk is most highly recommended for boys and girls. Here in America we have this slogan: "At least a pint of milk a day for every boy and girl."

The Saturday food page would like to receive recipes based on these valuable food products. They will be considered in the weekly awards of a $5 grand prize and books and honorable mentions.

The prize winners this week were:

GLORIFIED BREAD PUDDING.
(Honorable Mention.)

1 quart of milk

4 heaping tablespoons of sugar
1 teaspoon lemon extract
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
½ can Baker's cocoanut, Southern style
1 bottle of maraschino cherries, 10-cent size
½ can cut walnut meats, 19-cent size.

Beat eggs well, add sugar, flavoring and milk. Butter a baking dish and pour in mixture. Then lay the bread on top and sprinkle with nut meats and cocoanut. Decorate top with cherries and bake in moderate oven until thoroughly set. Chill and serve with cream. Stale buns or cake may be substituted for bread, in which case less sugar is required. This makes a most unusual pudding, even for those who usually will refuse bread pudding. (Ingredients Sanitary Stores).

(Honorable Mention.)

1 cup boiled rice (White House)

Cover peppers with hot water and let simmer for five minutes. Chop pieces cut from petal end of peppers. Add parsley and let simmer in the tomato juice about five minutes. Add boiled rice and cooked beef. Season with salt and pepper. Pack this mixture into peppers. Spread top and bottom openings with cracker meal mixed with butter. Put in baking dish with a little water and brown in oven about ten minutes. These can be prepared hours ahead of time and kept in refrigerator until time to bake.

Market Meanderings

By MILDRED REED BUNDY

Jaded August appetities—if there be such hard-to-please appetites in the face of the plentitude of fresh foods on the Washington market—should quicken at the mention of the late summer strawberries and red raspberries that are showing their cautious red heads now and then in special places. The strawberries are of an ever-bearing variety, with sweet, ripe, large fruit. Those the Meanderer saw came from Salisbury, Md., and sold for 50 cents a quart. The red raspberries, the second crop of the summer usually at this time, sell also for 50 cents a quart. So scarce are the strawberries that those who are anxious to purchase them should place their orders. One fruit dealer in a big market on Fourteenth street northwest stated that he would be able to fill strawberry orders until frost comes.

Grapes of the large Concord variety from New York State, are beginning to arrive in the local fruit stands. A basket containing about 2½ pounds sells for 25 cents. Fruit dealers expect to have Niagara, Catawba and Delaware grapes to offer in about a week.

The well known Arundel cantaloupes, sometimes called sweet air melons, from Anne Arundel County, Md., are greeting the melon fanciers this week. The flavor of these melons is exceptionally good and they are large, therefore a most economical buy at their price of 10 and 15 cents each.

Well mixed, cooling summer drinks served in Washington will be particularly pleasant if they contain a certain soda water from France sold reasonably, two pints for 25 cents, in one chain store. The soda water is unflavored, unprocessed, coming unchanged from springs in France. "And don't forget the olives, the anchovies and the potato chips," warns a smart drink-mixing authority. Well, then, at the same chain store where the Meanderer found the French mineral water, there are very crisp potato chips in half-pound, sealed packages, for 23 cents; there are fillets of anchovies, two small cans for 25 cents, or anchovy paste at 22 cents a tube, and olives at prices much lower than many summers have known. The queen-size stuffed olives which sold last summer at 47 cents for a 16-ounce jar, are now 32 cents at this same chain store.

New, muffin-shaped raisin rolls, moist and pleasingly good, are no more expensive than ordinary rolls at a busy bake shop out Fourteenth street northwest. In this same bakery pecan buns are swift sellers. Buttermilk cookies, mace flavored, crisp and healthful, delicious with a cool summer drink, are only 18 cents a dozen. At the same price one can have excellent oatmeal cookies, old-fashioned sugar cookies or ginger cookies.

For a sure-to-please August dessert for the family or for a guest dinner there is fresh peach ice cream, in specially sealed cartons for taking home, at only 20 cents a pint in one chain store. The ice cream can be placed in the electric ice box immediately after reaching home and will keep in perfect condition until dessert time.

Another economical effort-saver for the housewife for summer dessert is suggested by the canned strawberries, raspberries and blackberries, well sweetened, selling for only 19 cents for a No. 2 size can in the chain store into which your reporter meandered.

Tomatoes, in late summer ripeness, are cheap in the food markets, selling at 6 pounds for 25 cents, or 50 cents or less a half bushel. Sugar corn is as low as 30 cents a dozen, though the Golden Bantam and Country Gentleman varieties are somewhat higher than other kinds. Lima beans, to make a succulent succotash with the sugar corn, are good values, shelled, at 25 cents a quart.

All inquiries concerning items in this column will be answered at The Washington Post, telephone National 4205, extension 52; or by addressing Mildred Reed Bundy, The Washington Post, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply.

Strawberries and raspberries, 50 cents a quart; grapes, Arundel cantaloupes, G. Robinson, 63-64 Arcade Market, Fourteenth street and Park road northwest.

Soda water from France—ask for Perrier Label, 2 for 25 cents—Sanitary Grocery.

Potato chips, ½-pound in packages, Sanitary Grocery.

Anchovies, 2 tins, 25 cents. Sanitary Grocery.

Olives, large stuffed, queen size, 32 cents. Sanitary Grocery.

Canned berries, 19 cents. Sanitary Grocery.

Tomatoes, 6 pounds, 25 cents; limas, 25 cents a quart, &c. Robinson, Arcade Market.

OUR DAILY FOOD

By COLONEL GOODBODY

A Rhode Island Shore Dinner.

"NEVER go to Rhode Island without eating Johnny cake"—that's one of my mottoes.

And here's a typical Rhode Island dinner, including the all-important "Johnny cake."

Rhode Island is one of the queens of American seaside resorts—it has a perfect summer climate, fine beaches and picturesque rocky cliffs, an excellent harbor for boats, and delicious food, especially sea food.

And what sporting history has been written in this place, biggest of all, the international yacht races, ending with that last race of plucky Sir Thomas Lipton and the Shamrock V.

Rhode Island may be the Tom Thumb of the States, but it certainly can get the eyes of the whole world focussed on it. They not only hold the yacht races there—they also build the yachts—in the famous yards at Bristol. And the big cotton manufacturing industry in America was born right here in the State of Rhode Island. Yes, sir—in Pawtucket and Providence, where the very first cotton mill and the first spinning machinery in the United States were set up. Which shows the up-and-coming nature of Rhode Islanders. You know, in the days before Newport was the fashionable seaside resort, it threatened to become America's leading port. At one time somebody wrote back to the newspapers that if New York kept on growing it would soon be almost as big as Newport!

The little State of Rhode Island is said to produce more income per inhabitant from manufacturing than any other State in the Union. And the Rhode Island farmers produce more milk per cow—or did the last figures I saw.

And what apples they grow in Rhode Island—such as the Rhode Island greenings, big and waxy, firm, fine-grained, crisp, tender, juicy, rich, and with a flavor as lively as an Irish jig.

Also, did you ever eat a Rhode Island duckling—a roast duckling—the kind they raise along the Rhode Island shore?

Then there's Rhode Island roast chicken, with well-seasoned stuffing, one of those plump, handsome birds called Rhode Island Reds.

They know good food in "Little Rhody," as the State is affectionately called by her sister States.

And does that salt air make you hungry!

Please pass the lobster!

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

Cheap Balanced Diet.
(Bureau of Home Economics.)

Here is a simple viewpoint in planning low-cost meals: Take cereals; add milk. The other necessary kinds of food—vegetables, fruits and lean meats—can be used in small quantities if you start with plenty of the grain foods and milk.

The Bureau of Home Economics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture has been working for a long time on diets that would be palatable and nutritious and cost as little as possible. Nutrition specialists of the bureau say that in all but the most exceptional circumstances, and almost everywhere, the grain crops furnish the cheapest energy-giving food, and bread or bread-stuffs are the largest single item in the low-cost food supply. For all their importance, however, neither the "staff of life" nor any other grain product will by itself sustain you. Milk is also cheap because it furnishes several other kinds of food in one, and it is the best single supplement to the grain foods. But even this combination must not be considered complete, for it lacks certain vitamins and minerals which only vegetables and fruits can be depended upon to supply.

The housewife who must depend largely on bread and cereals has her difficulties in meal planning. How shall a mother in a family of five serve 30 pounds of breadstuffs and cereals in a week, in a sufficient variety of ways to make the meals appetizing? She might try some of the following suggestions:

Serve soups and chowders containing whole wheat, rice, bread crumbs or noodles or other flour pastes. In meat combinations these cereals might be used as beef and whole wheat, scalloped liver and whole wheat, liver and rice, whole wheat, fish and tomato, whole wheat and pork, brown rice, plain or served with tomatoes or cheese, or both; Spanish or Mexican rice, or a pilau of rice or whole wheat, green peppers stuffed with rice, macaroni or spaghetti with chopped cooked ham, with cheese, or with tomato and cheese; noodles or dumplings with meat. These are good as main dishes for dinner. The cereal part of them acts as a "meat extender"—that is, if you haven't enough meat for a whole meal. They are useful dishes to make with leftovers.

Fried mush or oatmeal cookies fill a useful place for lunch or supper. French toast is another possibility. Suet pudding, bread pudding and apple or fruit dumpling are some dessert suggestions in which cereals play a large part.

There are, of course, the breakfast cereals, and the breads for every meal. The homemaker can conscientiously indulge her liking for experiment in cooking in trying all sorts of biscuits, muffins and wheat cakes, corn cakes, corn pone, corn dodgers, spoon bread, Indian pudding and brown bread, made from corn meal. The muffins and other hot breads may be given variety by the occasional use of dried fruits—currants, raisins, dates, figs and so on.

The grain foods are cheapest when bought in bulk rather than in package. Whole-grain wheat, and also cracked or ground wheat can be bought at feed stores. Whole-grain wheat should be sorted and washed carefully, and soaked overnight before cooking. It can be cooked over direct heat or in a double boiler. The Bureau of Home Economics has many recipes for cereal dishes.

Whole Wheat Chowder.

2 cups diced carrots
1 pint boiling water
½ cup diced salt pork
4 tablespoons chopped onion
1 tablespoon flour
1 pint milk
2 cups cooked whole wheat
1 teaspoon salt
Pepper
1 tablespoon chopped parsley

Cook the carrots in the boiling water until tender. Fry the salt pork until crisp, remove it from the fat, and cook the onions in the fat. Stir in the flour and cook a few minutes longer. Mix all ingredients in the upper part of a double boiler, stir until well blended and cook about ten minutes.

STEPHAN HONORED AT CAMP POLLARD

Review Held for General; Col. Meade Outlines Sea Attack.

Special to The Washington Post.

Camp Pollard, Virginia Beach, Aug. 26.—Maj. Gen. Anton Stephan, commanding general of the Twenty-ninth Division and District of Columbia National Guard, was honored with a sunset parade and review tonight by the Sixth Marine Reserve Brigade. A similar review will be held on the Washington Monument Grounds September 4, when the brigade returns to Washington.

A large efficiency pennant floated over the mess hall used by Companies C and D, of the Twenty-third Regiment after an inspection of mess halls by Brigade Surg. Don S. Knowlton today. This pennant will be awarded daily and the hall winning it the greatest number of times will be awarded a cup at the close of camp.

The Second Battalion of the Twenty-third Regiment continued its firing on the range today while the other battalions engaged in squad and platoon extended order problems.

Tomorrow 27 members of the Washington Board of Trade will visit the camp and will be entertained at a tea Sunday afternoon by Lieut. Col. J. J. Staley, commanding officer, followed by a brigade review.

A novel feature was introduced into the annual war game when Gen. Stephan brought Col. J. J. Meade, U. S. M. C., here with the Sixth Marine Reserve Brigade to the Twenty-ninth Division staff headquarters and had him give, in detail, the organization and operations of a landing force, theoretically striving for a foothold on the coast. Col. Meade complimented the staff on the dispositions made for the defense.

Taking for granted that the Reds has disposed of the United States fleet and were superior by 3 to 1 to the defenses at Virginia Beach, he outlined an attack from the sea, using his own experiences in the Atlantic and Pacific for many interesting illustrations. His plan consisted of great aerial activity for the destruction of defense positions, followed up by movement of troops to the land by boats.

During the regular morning conference, Maj. William McK. Dunn, of Hot Springs, Va., and Washington, assistant to the chief of operations, was called up by Maj. L. McD. Sylvester, United States Army instructor, to explain his disposition of the Twenty-ninth Division forces for the defense of the local coast line. Col. John W. Oehmann, inspector of buildings, Washington, who is the division engineer, recommended a somewhat different defense system, as did Lieut. Col. Richard M. Bidgood, of Richmond, Va., assistant to the chief of staff. All defense plans were harmonized in the official order prepared by Maj. Sylvester.

DEFENSE OF DUNCAN WINS ADJOURNMENT

Sought Time to Examine State's Evidence; Trial Resumes Monday.

Adjournment until Monday of the trial of William H. Duncan, former Arlington County Clerk, for alleged misuse of public funds, was ordered yesterday by Judge Walter T. McCarthy, as the prosecution neared the close of its case in Arlington Circuit Court.

This recess was ordered so defense attorneys might have an opportunity to examine records and evidence submitted by the State. The defense claimed that it had not been able to see these documents before.

Checks on Bank Account.

A contention that checks in excess of 100, totaling $40,000, has been drawn against Duncan's bank account between May, 1930, and February, 1932, without any record except the bank's, was placed to the jury by Collins Denny, assistant attorney general of Virginia.

M. L. Carnifax, a State auditor, was on the stand a second time yesterday. He told Denny that no record had been found of more than 100 checks against the former clerk's account other than the balances of the bank on which the checks were drawn. Neither the checks nor the check stubs could be located, he asserted.

Stubs Are Missing.

Court adjourned before Carnifax described the individual items. After the completion of his testimony Monday the State will rest. The defense objected to the admission of Carnifax's statement and to an itemized list of checks which he had prepared.

After Carnifax testified that he could locate no stubs for four pay roll checks aggregating $1,855, which the State charged were issued by Duncan, the defense called to his attention that the pay roll checks were counter checks and would not have stubs. He replied that he found no record of them.

Remington on Stand.

R. E. Remington, deputy county clerk, testified nearly the entire day. He told the jury that both he and Duncan were permitted to draw on the clerk's account. When he issued a check, he recorded it on the stub, he said.

He testified that Duncan did not make entries in the entry book of the office which the State contended had been altered. He said that he had not changed it. Several other employes in the office testified that they had not altered the book or did not know of any person who had. On cross-examination by defense counsel, each stated that it would be difficult for a man not familiar with a typewriter to change figures and that Duncan was not overly familiar with typewriting.

THE COUNTER-ATTACK.

One of the most striking incidents of this era was the meeting yesterday in Washington of the Government and American enterprise, coming together to consolidate national power and collective private initiative for the purpose of making the decisive counter-offensive that will end the depression. The Government was personified by President Hoover and his official associates. They are clothed with legal powers and resources of practically unlimited scope. American enterprise was personified by industrial leaders from all parts of the country. They occupy strategic positions from which they can sound the rallying call to every business institution in the United States.

This meeting was visible evidence of the unconquerable power of democracy. The Government and the people in a great emergency are one. This was exemplified when the nation rallied to the call of President Wilson. Every citizen forgot politics, forgot the political affiliations of the President, and got in step with the advancing flag of the Union. The unity of the Government and people is exemplified again, under a President of other political affiliations, when citizens of all political faiths join in the war against the depression.

President Hoover in a few sentences gave a vivid picture of the battle which has been waged for eighteen months against terrible forces that threatened the United States. He notifies the country that the enemy has done his worst and can be overthrown by a general counter-offensive. He outlined broadly the means at hand, the object to be attained, and the method of attack. His lieutenants gave further details regarding the situation and the plans of campaign.

In a nutshell the objective of the consolidated forces of Government and people is the restoration of employment. This objective is now attainable. The counter-attack is along the whole national front. It requires the concerted action of the vast forces which make up the industry, finance, transportation, and agriculture of the nation, invigorated by immense resources furnished by the Government. By organizing in districts and dealing with localized problems, always in teamwork with the national organization, the fighters in all sectors can adapt themselves to their task and carry the breastworks directly in front of them.

President Hoover is in the position which Marshal Foch occupied when he undertook the counter-attack that rolled Germany up like a scroll. Under Foch were many armies of many nations, of all political beliefs. The emergency was such as to silence all contention and rivalry. One task confronted all, and upon one man fell the responsibility of co-ordinating and directing the gigantic forces. It happens that a Republican President is called upon to lead. If he were a Democrat the situation would be the same. The enemy is the enemy of all Americans. The victory will lift misfortune from all Americans.

Although the earth will not be shaken by thunderous bombardments and drums and trumpets will not resound, the battle that opened yesterday will be full of dramatic incidents. In historic perspective it will loom as large as the finale of the world war. Americans have taken the measure of a deadly enemy. They have resolved to destroy him. They have the means and the will to achieve victory. Their victory will make America stronger and richer than ever before.

MR. GARNER ACCEPTS.

Speaker Garner accepts the Democratic nomination for Vice President in a letter that commands admiration for its polemical subtlety and astonishment because of its unlikeness to Mr. Garner's accustomed style of speech and writing. The tang of Uvalde is lacking. It is not the war whoop of Texas, but the sophisticated phraseology of the effete East that permeates this remarkable paper. The reader will ask himself whether Mr. Garner did not take advantage of his long conference with Editor Al Smith to learn some of the niceties of literary language.

Nevertheless, through the tracery of elaborate Yankee ornament Speaker Garner manages to make himself well understood, especially in his criticism of the Hoover administration. He sees nothing good in that administration, and as an orthodox Democrat he holds it primarily responsible for the ills of the depression. His sketch of the gradual but remorseless encroachment by the Federal Government upon the States under Republican administrations stamps him as an authority on the conflicting political theories of Hamilton and Jefferson. This historical resume omits, of course, any reference to the readiness of the States to succumb to the blandishments of the Federal Government for the sake of obtaining appropriations. Mr. Garner could not be expected to cover the whole field of research.

The iniquitous tariff, the refusal of the administration to accept Democratic "liberalization" of emergency relief measures, the heavy and sudden imposition of taxes instead of loading down the taxpayer by imperceptible degrees, the failure of the President to effect economies while attempting to "pass the buck" to Congress (there is a smack of Uvalde in that)—these and similar matters are discussed by Speaker Garner in his new literary vein. He holds that the failure to meet the depression emergency courageously at its inception and the enactment of the Smoot-Hawley tariff are the most naked evidences of the failure of Republican leadership.

Speaker Garner does not fly the track, as Vice President Curtis did, on the subject of prohibition. The Texan stands squarely with his leader, Gov. Roosevelt, for unconditional repeal of the eighteenth amendment. His references to Gov. Roosevelt are graceful and appropriate.

The Speaker ends his epistle with an expression of awe in the thought that "in our hands are about to be placed the destinies of our country." This prospect does not daunt him; on the contrary, it spurs his courage and resolution. He pledges his best efforts to the cause, if elected Vice President. Incidentally, if not elected Vice President, he stands an inside chance of being re-elected to the House of Representatives; but this is a matter that concerns only Texas, and perhaps it would have been out of place to mention it in the letter of acceptance.

WHERE CHEAPNESS IS COSTLY.

A revolt of no small dimensions against emphasizing mere cheapness in commodities at the expense of quality is under way throughout the country. While price levels of legitimate merchandise have dropped greatly, and rightly so, an increasing number of manufacturers and retailers are condemning the tactics of producers in pressing upon the market inferior merchandise on the ground that it is cheaper.

In the automobile tire industry, W. O'Neil, head of one of the "Big Five" companies in the tire business, is a leader in this revolt. In current news dispatches Mr. O'Neil expresses himself vigorously on what he terms "dangerous practices" that have been allowed to spring up in time of depression.

He points out that it is not only unfair to the buyer, but dangerous to human life to take quality out of an automobile tire in order to shave a few cents off the selling price. When quality is taken out of some merchandise, such as clothing or furniture, dissatisfaction is usually the only penalty paid by the buyer. But there is more involved in the matter of tires. Here human safety is at stake, and a small apparent "saving" may cost a life. Increased speed, reaching 50 or 60 miles an hour, makes a demand upon tires which only genuine quality can meet. Tire manufacturers who insist upon quality first are contributing to the public safety.

GREETING EDITOR SMITH.

Whether or not they agree with his political beliefs, the American people are interested in Alfred E. Smith. Quite independent of party affiliations, he is respected as a stalwart citizen and admired as an able executive. His advent into the field of editorial labors will be watched by many who have followed his occasional contributions to the press and been impressed with his candor and broad views on all public questions.

There is a very general feeling of regret that Mr. Smith received so little consideration at the hands of the Chicago convention. As the titular head of the Democratic party he deserved better treatment, even if his eleventh-hour entry as a candidate was resented. His course just before and during the convention makes a curious chapter in political history. If it is true that a doctor should not attempt to prescribe for himself, and that a lawyer who pleads his own case has "a fool for a client," it seems logical that no politician should rely solely upon his own judgment when his personal fortunes are at stake. But Mr. Smith did just that. He listened to no advice. To his best friends it seemed incredible that he continued to believe up to the very moment that Mr. McAdoo delivered California and Texas to Roosevelt, that the convention eventually would turn to him. Yet the conviction was almost universal from the start that, while Gov. Smith might have sufficient following to block Roosevelt's nomination, and possibly dictate a compromise candidate, he stood no chance of being named himself.

Mr. Smith's umbrage over his treatment has been so bitter that he now remains the only prominent Democratic leader who has not tendered his active support to the ticket. He may do so before the campaign is over. He has nothing to gain by definitely alienating himself from the Democratic party, but any words that he can say in the future for his erstwhile friend and successor at Albany will have diminished influence, in view of his long and gloomy silence.

BETTER MARKETING.

Inexorable economic laws during a depression operate to eliminate the obsolete factory, the overcapitalized enterprise, the unproductive farm, the incompetent and the lazy in every line of endeavor. The slack period has demonstrated that in many lines radical changes are necessary in the methods of distribution and sale.

Wasteful competition has grown to unwarranted extremes in the United States. Big business realizes this and is seeking relief that will permit of regulated agreements within reason that will allow prices to be held at profitable levels. There can be no real prosperity when industry and agriculture sell at a loss, or at bare cost of production. Only from profits can improvements be made, labor conditions bettered, dividends paid and taxes collected.

The farmers are learning very practical lessons. Unhampered by anti-trust laws they are organizing cooperatives, the influence of which are felt in many sections in the marketing of this year's crops. Such efforts form a striking contrast to the unfortunate and ill-advised efforts of farmers in the middle west who are trying to overcome the natural laws of supply and demand with violent measures to suppress all sales in a limited locality.

Many marketing combinations are operated so successfully that they should encourage rural communities everywhere throughout the nation to emulate them. Cooperative sale of dairy products in New England and Wisconsin have long since passed the experimental stage. The fruit growers of California and the northwest, as well as those of Florida, have organizations that render efficient service. They not only limit production and maintain fair prices, but they supply their membership with all necessary market information and provide instruction regarding packing so that top prices may be realized.

It has long been held that farmers were so numerous, so widely scattered and so independent in their action that it was impossible to hold them in organized movements. The same thing was said during very recent years about the oil industry. The oil producers are not as numerous as the farmers, but the problem of getting them together for efficient control of output, which was running wild to the utter demoralization of the industry, seemed equally hopeless of solution. After futile efforts to bring oil under some form of government regulation, executive leaders and State governments have evolved measures that are giving effective results. The persistent efforts of the Department of Agriculture and the Farm Board to extend cooperation among farmers show progress that should encourage general adoption of such methods for marketing farm products.

Bank receivers are directed by Chairman Fort to hold up mortgage foreclosures for 60 days, until the Home Loan Banks can get into operation. In other words, "Hold the home, for Fort is coming."

There's no law to prevent a Democrat from profiting by the Republican conspiracy to boost the stock market.

American industry may be a wonder at mass production, but it will never achieve overproduction of jobs.

Babe Ruth and Jimmy Foxx are putting an end to the depression in home runs.

WAS CAESAR GREATEST?

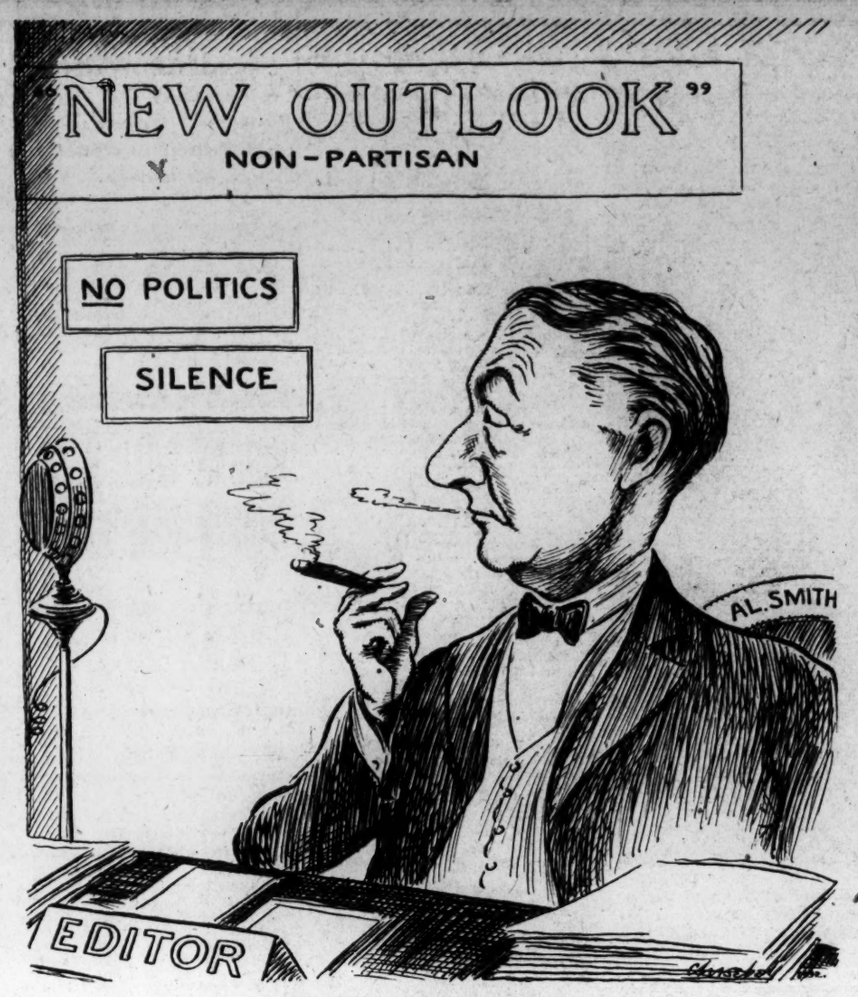
From the Christian Science Monitor.

In his new biography of Julius Caesar, Mr. John Buchan raises a question which has ever been a favorite parlor pastime: Who was the world's greatest genius? Mr. Buchan gives the crown to his subject, his reasons resting upon many-sided achievements, in the field of thought as well as action.

Though the schoolboy may find Caesar somewhat tiresome, as he grows older he does not know which to admire more—the limpidity of Caesar's Latin prose or the story which it celebrates of mammoth empire building. But, if the adjective must be applied, surely neither the prose nor the intellectual powers of Caesar were greater than those of, say, Cicero. In war there will also be the same disputation. Always quicker in movement than his adversaries, ever the better strategist, personally valorous, able to pour the maximum elan into his troops—the layman may well consider Caesar in a class by himself, though a reservation might be entered by Capt. B. H. Liddell Hart. Capt. Hart has recently extolled the military genius of the earlier Scipio Africanus, whose defeat of Hannibal saved the Roman heritage for the West.

Neither in war nor in intellectual pursuits, however, is greatness alone defined. One must consider the extent of Caesar's accomplishments after he became dictator of Rome. Here it has always been difficult to establish whether he was more politician than statesman. Tammany methods, which helped him to rise to influence as a young man, never deserted him, and in his later years as ruler he added a hankering after personal glory which Plutarch describes as "a sort of emulous struggle with himself."

The question that Mr. Buchan raises will always strike against different tastes and different temperaments. Whether, with our modern standards, Caesar is held in such high regard as has been his portion throughout the ages may be doubted. However, a man whose prowess arose chiefly on the battlefield will not obtain the title in the estimation of most people, even if the pastime were limited to the selection of "the most noble Roman of them all."



The Campaign Warms Up.

POST HASTE.

In brief, the business leaders will make the wheels of industry form Rotary Clubs.

Gov. Roosevelt says the Democratic party is not for sale. Not on the big board, anyhow, but he made an eloquent radio plea for purchases of dollar shares of curb stock.

The New Outlook will provide a good Al-ibi for not campaigning.

It is unjust to charge that politicians are bad actors. They couldn't make those speeches with straight faces if they were.

Japan was slow in assimilating Western imperialistic ideas, and now is confused because she does not realize that they are obsolescent.

Gov. Pinchot would kick Jim Davis out of the senatorial race because he is "under suspicion." The Napoleonic code considers a man guilty until he proves his innocence, but, Deo gratias, the U. S. A. reverses that unjust principle.

South Dakota gets $150,000 for relief work. Arizona, which asked for $45,000,000, ought to be able to capitalize its nerve.

As soon as mob pressure is relieved Illinois and Iowa should do their best to help their miners and farmers.

U. S. Steel will spend $5,000,000 in improvements and Remington Rand will put nearly the same amount immediately into raw products—two straws that do not indicate a head wind.

The successful take-offs of the derby fliers are matched by the hats off to them by us admiring groundlings.

A merciful professor proposes an anesthetic for oysters before opening. Couldn't it also be used when prying the taxpayer's purse to make him shell out?

Editor Smith's New Outlook, from his umsteenth-floor office, if not high-brow, will at least offer a bird's-eye view.

Having finally finished the expurgated edition, following his visit to Albany, Speaker Garner's acceptance letter will be given final check and release today by the national committee.

Gov. Roosevelt wants to "return the Government to the people." Let's see, what is the present House of Representatives composed of?

Never mind the paradoxicality of it if the rise in prices is making a dent in the depression.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE MISSING LUXURIES.

We sit and fret and whine and fuss
O'er comforts now denied to us,
All joys, beyond the slightest doubt,
Our parents had to do without.

At worst, the life we live is rich
Compared with the conditions which
Our fathers and our mothers knew
In eighteen hundred ninety-two.

Although a small boy then was I
I can recall that cake and pie
Were treats not regularly served
Except when birthdays were observed.

No motor car, no telephone,
Was by our kindly parents known.
They were content the cold to brave
With just the heat one coal stove gave.

My mother laughed and sang and made
A happy home wherein we played,
Though times were then exceeding bad
And little money father had.

So when I hear men fret and fume
And walk the town to scatter gloom,
"The things you miss," I want to shout,
"Your parents got along without."

Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad to His Flapper Daughter

By ROBERT QUILLEN

MY DEAR LOUISE: When I urge you to associate with the best people, I am referring to the people who have brains.

Nothing I can teach you is more important than this.

Stupidity causes nine-tenths of the world's misery and trouble. It is the chief cause of crime, accidents, ill health and immorality.

And the thing is contagious. Whether your associates are poor and unschooled or rich and cultivated, you can't escape injury if they are stupid.

You have noticed how quickly young people from the North learn to drop their r's in the South and how quickly Southern youngsters modify their drawl in the North. You know girls who pick up new figures of speech, new mannerisms and new habits when they go away to school and find new associates. And in your own personality you can recognize faults and virtues filched from your intimate friends. All of us are mimics.

Of course there are strong personalities that remain individual in any environment but they are rare as blue moons. And they are considered queer.

It is human nature to be a conformist—to do in Rome as the Romans do. And we conform to intellectual standards as we do to fashions in dress.

Genius flowers in bunches. In the Athens of Pericles, the London of Dr. Johnson and the Boston of Emerson's day, genius inspired genius and one keen mind was flint for another's steel. It is always that way.

Have you noticed how much better your mind clicks in the company of clever people and how stupid you feel in the presence of the dull? A great man seems a clod to the stupid, for his words are adjusted to their poor wits. Would his mind long continue to function at its best in their society?

Your mind grows with use. The clash of wits generates ideas. Associate with those who have brains and your mind will adjust itself to the pace they set. Spend your time among the dull and the witless and your brain will slow up and grow rusty for want of use.

You can not rise far above your environment, my dear. Those who lie down with dogs get up with fleas. Make intimates of the stupid and you will share the regrets and woes that are the natural fruit of stupidity. It isn't luck that keeps people out of trouble; it is sound sense. Love,

DAD.

PRO AND CON

Press Comment Upon Acts and Actors in the Great American Show, "Politics."

"Swing Around the Circle."

Houston Post.

Some of the campaign advisers of Gov. Roosevelt have been telling him he should make few speeches during the campaign, and should not undertake a "swing around the circle." Others have insisted that he visit as many parts of the country as he possibly can, and let the voters hear him and see him in person.

The enormous public interest manifested in the appearance of the governor at Columbus, Ohio, Saturday, and the highly favorable response to his speech should convince him that it will be helpful to his campaign if he will get out personally before the people and speak to them directly.

Mr. Roosevelt has an attractive personality and he is a good speaker. He has the faculty of making his addresses interesting to the masses. His speech at Columbus was not nearly so ponderous as was the acceptance speech of Hoover. It was clear and to the point and had light touches in it, calculated to make it entertaining as well as enlightening and convincing.

Mystery Market.

Brooklyn Eagle.

Many people are still mystified and more or less suspicious of the rise in security values. All manner of explanations have been advanced regarding the upturn in Wall street. It has all seemed too good to be true. Manipulation for political purposes is strongly suspected, but Washington itself has been skeptical and apprehensive lest the upward movement get out of hand and bring a reaction before November.

Girls at Sea.

Brooklyn Eagle.

We don't take much stock in the notion that women who are unable to find paying positions should be permitted to enlist as ship cooks in the United States Navy. But what a delightful suggestion for a Gilbert and Sullivan operetta.

Can't Appreciate Japan.

New York Times.

The studied address of the Japanese foreign minister, Count Uchida, was not really directed to the house of peers in Tokyo, where he spoke. It was plainly intended for the United States, for Great Britain, and especially for the League of Nations. The Japanese position regarding Manchuria has never been so explicitly stated. This was done with great suavity of manner. Count Uchida, speaking in the name of his government, fairly dripped with benevolent intentions. Japan is putting away all dreams of possible annexations. She will soon, it is true, imperil peaceful relations with China by recognizing the new independent state, Manchukuo; but this ought not to be taken by the Chinese government as an affront, since it is necessary for the attainment of the Japanese ideal of linking together "three independent powers," in order to promote "the peace and prosperity of the Far East, as well as the peace of the world and the civilization of mankind."

How can anybody object to this noble and altruistic program? Well, there are some obtuse foreigners who still argue that Japan is violating two treaties which she has signed.

Roosevelt's Wise Decision.

Baltimore Sun.

Gov. Roosevelt's conduct of the hearng on the Walker charges has been widely praised, but we doubt that he has ever appeared to better advantage than when he refused to allow Mayor Walker's counsel to examine Republican leaders in an attempt to show that the investigation of the government of New York City is the result of a Republican plot. In flatly refusing to permit that line of interrogation, Mr. Roosevelt demonstrated clarity of judgment on the issues and, what is perhaps more important, dignity of spirit in a politically trying situation.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Detroit Observer Does Not See Much Drunkenness Among Park Loungers.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Some time ago the Christian Science Monitor picked up an editorial from The Post captioned "Poverty and Drink." A letter was written to The Monitor in answer to this editorial by Victor T. Wilson, of Detroit. It might prove of interest to those in Washington who have read the editorial and disagreed with it.

A portion of the letter which appeared in the Monitor is as follows:

"I live in Detroit, a border city, reputed to have a strong antiprohibition sentiment. My vocation takes me daily across Grand Circus Park, where the authorities, wisely or not, have permitted the idle population to assemble, tramping down the grass and foliage in large groups, to listen to communistic orators hold forth from their soap box rostrums. Several hundred are milling around all the time. In the weeks and months I have traveled across the park I have yet to record having seen one person under the influence of liquor. I took the trouble recently to ask a police officer stationed there what his experiences were and he replied that he had seen only one or two, none worth talking about.

"In talking with a prohiquor man recently, who assumed to know there was more liquor consumed than before prohibition, when confronted with the above small bit of evidence, he said: 'Oh, of course not; it is not the poor man who gets it, but those who have the money to buy it.' He and others like him are oblivious in such sweeping statements of the following facts: Statistics show that about 15 per cent of the population in the United States earn $3,000 and over a year; hence this small fraction of the people must have acquired the habit of consuming some six times as much liquor to even equal what is not drunk by the remaining 85 per cent, if there was no drinking among them—and, how much more to constitute increased consumption?"

W. R. BULLOCK.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 22.

Did "Ten Nights in a Barroom" Turn Al Smith Against Books?

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: A few months ago when I saw it stated that Al Smith objected to the reading of books I took it for one of those newspaper fictions. I don't see how a public man can be safe and solid in his writings and speech-making if he has never read any history and biography and does not make sure of what he has to say by referring to books at least once or twice a year.

Now—I am puzzled. As reported by the Associated Press, when asked how literary the New Outlook, which he is to edit, would be, Mr. Smith left the matter in doubt by the flat statement that he is not a book reader, and with the added remark, "Yes; I read about seven papers a day and some magazines, but books—no, never any books." What I have read of his remarks on the prohibition question is not so bad from his standpoint, and if he makes good as an editor, I suppose we will have to call him an exception. Perhaps he absorbs the good out of books from the editorial effusions of the seven newspapers he reads daily.

Another guess is that he may have read "Ten Nights in a Barroom" when a boy, and found it so dry that it turned him against books in general as he grew older.

A. F. JENKINS.

Writer Finds That the "People" Have Heat and Prejudice, but Lack Facts.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Your editorial of the 25th on "The Unsolved Problem" is the beginning of wisdom. Had such editorial expressions been given to the country by our metropolitan press when opinion was forming on prohibition, we would not be in the mess we now find ourselves as a nation. Nothing has been more obvious to thinking people than that fanatics have thrown a monkey wrench into our election machinery this year, when our economic problems are crying for attention.

The weak point in The Post's argument, which is otherwise most excellent, is its references to what the "people" will do when the matter of prohibition is submitted to them in case it is submitted. Talk to any one on the street or in the hotels of our city, and discover how little of fact and how much of heat and prejudice is found in the "people."

J. O. KNOTT.

Why Blame Texas, When Others Also Turned Down Al Smith?

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Your correspondent, H. P., is certainly a funny fellow. In giving John N. Garner a left-handed rap in The Post of August 24 he asks: "Did Texas weigh the qualifications of Alfred E. Smith in the last presidential election?" Half a dozen States of the former solid South thought the same way as Texas, as well as 21,000,000 voters, in 1928. In 1932 the Democratic convention weighed Al some more and found him very much under requirements. Why blame it all on poor Texas? H. P. seems to belong to a minority which isn't even organized enough to be vociferous.

How Prof. Einstein Has a Powerful Advantage Over Newspaper Reporters.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: According to Prof. Einstein, newspaper reporters should not write about science unless they know what they are writing about. The general public no doubt holds that the same opinion might be applied to scientists. Einstein is a whiz at writing about scientific matters. Maybe he knows what he writes about, but even if he errs, he can not be corrected, for the simple reason that nobody knows what he is writing about.

Miss Mignon Smith Wed to Jerome B. Cowdon.

Palms, ferns, oak leaves and gladioli formed the background for a wedding last night at the Francis Asbury Methodist Church, when Miss Mignon Smith became the bride of Mr. Jerome B. Cowden. The ceremony took place at 8 o'clock.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Charles H. Smith. The service was read by Dr. J. J. Rives.

The bride wore a gown of ivory satin, princess lines, with panels of Alencon lace, both front and back, and extending the full length of the train. Her lace veil was draped coronet fashion and embroidered in seed pearls. Her only ornament was a string of pearls. She carried a prayer book.

Her nephew, Charles, jr., attired in white satin, and little Moly Cochrane, in pleated chiffon, acted as train bearers. Julia Boyd Smith, niece of the bride, wore a dress of orchid net in her role of flower girl.

The bride had as her matron of honor her sister, Mrs. James Dyer Callahan, of Lynchburg, Va. She wore a gown of delicate pink crepe with jacket to match and carried pink roses and blue delphinium. The other attendants wore crepe dresses in pastel shades of blue, yelloaw, green and peach, and carried pink roses tied with pink ribbons. They were Mrs. Charles Smith, Mrs. Leon Cochrane and Miss Betty Campbell, of this city, and Miss Adyleen Trent, of Reidsville, N. C.

The bridegroom had as his best man Mr. Robert Nugent 3d, of New York. The ushers were Mr. Albert Heisley, of Harrisburg, Pa.; Mr. Howard Fetty, of Laurel, Md., and Messrs Leon Cochrane and Robert Pearson, of Washington.

Prior to the ceremony Mrs. Fannie Shreve Hearfsill sang "At Dawning" and "O Promise Me."

Immediately following the reception the bride and bridegroom left on at motor tour of New England and Canada. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Cowden will make their home at 3420 Sixteenth street.

The bride has studied at George Washington and Columbia universities. Mr. Cowden is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania.

Greyhound Lines Pick Terminal Site

Permanent Bus Depot May Be on New York Avenue Off Fourteenth.

Possible location of the permanent bus terminal of Greyhound Lines Inc., on the north side of New York avenue between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets northwest, was revealed yesterday by reports of negotiations in progress between officials of the bus corporation and trustees of the Walsh estate, owner of property in this section.

On August 8, the Public Utilities Commission established a temporary terminal for Greyhound Lines, Inc., at 133 Pennsylvania avenue, after Justice James M. Proctor, District Supreme Court, had denied a plea for an injunction against the utilities body to prevent enforcement of the year-old order preventing interstate bus terminals in the downtown congested business district after August 1.

In July, negotiations were in progress between officials of Greyhound Lines Inc., and the Grand Lodge of Masons regarding remodeling the east half of the Masonic Temple Building at Thirteenth street and New York avenue northwest, as a permanent terminal. This plan is reported to have been abandoned.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"VIRGO."

IF August 27 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m., from 4 p. m. to 5:15 p. m. and from 10:30 p. m. to 11:45 p. m. The danger periods are from 9:10 a. m. to 10:30 a. m. and from 8 p. m. to 9:35 p. m.

It would be well to mark time today (August 27) before forcing or coming to any final decision over important matters of business. Care in all financial interests is advised, as well as diet restrictions for health's sake. A romantic evening for young lovers, and secret troths will be plighted.

Children born on this August 27 will have sweet and gentle natures, which will be sensitive and easily influenced by prevailing conditions. They will be very much children of fate, as they will lack the ambition or courage to force themselves on to a higher plane than those on which they were born.

A strong sense of duty keeps you pretty well on the job, and cleaned up with your obligations, if born on August 27. You hate to have any kind of obligations hanging over your head. From one side of your character, you get an inclination to rather Spartan-like habits and ways; the other side of you longs for adventure and contact with human beings. The one half helps to keep the other half sane.

You are not a considerate talker and like all who can hold their tongue, you seldom appear a fool. Even if still waters do not run deep, they generally look as if they did. A natural kindliness and diplomacy forbids you touching people on the raw. Nothing is too much trouble for you for a friend. Your sympathies, however, are not widespread, and you do not scatter your charity. You have the grit and backbone which enables you to make higher attainments than those with less "nerve" and resoluteness. Your life will not be full of half finished attempts, and your failures will not be easy defeats. You have unmistakable traits of character that cause you to be either very much liked or very much disliked. If there be peace and harmony within, you are always a home-body.

Successful People Born on August 27:

1—Sophia Smith, founder of Smith College.

2—Hannibal Hamlin, vice president under Lincoln.

3—The Rev. Charles Frederic Aked, preacher.

4—Charles Gates Dawes, former Ambassador to England.

5—Ralph L. Goodrich, lawyer and philologist.

6—William H. English, statesman.

Culbertson on Bridge

By ELY CULBERTSON

USING THE OPENING TWO-BID.

ONE of the greatest faults of the average Bridge player is his excessive use of the Opening two-bid. This is a very valuable bid, but one which should be used sparingly on those rare occasions when a sure game can practically be guaranteed.

While hands which contain 5½ honor-tricks are usually strong enough distributionally to justify a two-bid, frequently occasions arise when the distribution is not so favorable and a bid of this kind plunges a pair into the deep mire of the severe penalty zone.

The following hand, submitted by Mr. Robert A. Campbell, of Hope, Ark., illustrates why two-bids are extremely dangerous.

South—Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

	♠ 5 4 ♡ 9 8 5 4 ◇ 8 5 3 ♣ J 8 7 5
♠ 3 ♡ A 10 7 ◇ A Q J 10 7 4 2 ♣ 9 4	N W E S	♠ Q J 9 8 6 ♡ J 3 2 ◇ 6 ♣ Q 10 6 2
	♠ A K 10 7 2 ♡ K Q 6 ◇ K 9 ♣ A K 3

The bidding:
(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
2♠(1)	3◇	Pass	Pass
3♠(2)	Pass	4♠(3)	Double(4)
Pass	Pass	Pass

(1) A very poor bid, as Mr. Campbell himself admits. The hand contains 5½ honor-tricks, but there is absolutely no guarantee that a game can be made; as a matter of fact, a game is almost impossible unless partner can make some response to one spade.

(2) South is now in a more or less helpless situation. Having opened with a Forcing bid, he is now obligated to continue the bidding to game since partner is not necessarily marked as having an absolutely worthless hand.

(3) What else can North do? The one bid which he is unable to make is a pass. He must merely hope that his partner's hand is strong enough to produce game all by itself.

(4) Quite sound. Partner has made a bid and it seems impossible that North and South can hold any other suit to which they can run.

South was set four tricks, vulnerable, at a loss of 1,400 points. I do not believe that it was possible for him to save a trick as he was obliged to lead away from every one of his combinations.

If South had opened with a bid of only one spade, no such disaster could have occurred. West would either have played the hand at three diamonds or North and South would have been allowed to play it in two hearts or two spades. Obviously they cannot make anything, but a set of 100 or 300 is quite different from a set of 1,400.

Today's Pointer.

Forcing bids of two in a suit, compelling partner to keep the bidding open until game is reached, are spectacular and interesting, but they should only be made on hands rich enough in honor-tricks to guarantee the making of a Slam if partner can make a strong response, and the making of a game if partner gives the dreaded minimum response against anything but the most freakish holdings.

How to Be Beautiful

Answering Readers' Beauty Queries.

THIN ARMS.

TY writes: Please write a set of exercises for thin arms. I am embarrassed in the summer in bathing suit and sleeveless dress and in the winter hate to get into an evening gown.

For thin arms, the simple exercises are preferable. Stand erect. Arms at sides. Extend arms forward in front of body. Open and close fists vigorously. Back to position. Raise arms overhead, palms facing. Open and close hands. Back to position. Extend arms at shoulder level, sideward and repeat. Do each exercise ten times.

With arms at sides, rise on toes at the same time raising arms overhead inhaling as you rise. Exhale as you lower to heels and return arms to position.

Extend arms at sides, shoulder level. Swing arms upward making a complete circle.

Massage gently in firm, upward, rotary motion with cocoa butter after taking your hot bath at night.

Dear Miss Pierce: I am 16 years old, 5 feet 6 inches, weigh 122. Is that below or above normal? (2) How can I develop the bust? Do you advise the use of the different methods, creams and treatments advertised for this purpose. (3) What remedy should be used for dandruff?

MAUREEN S.

Dear Maureen: You are just a few pounds underweight. Try to gain generally and you will no doubt have the extra weight evenly distributed. The arm exercises are excellent for bust, top. Swimming, tennis, golf and rowing are also good. Since the busts are composed of very delicate glands that are easily injured, I firmly believe that any local treatment such as cream, massage, &c., should be followed only at the instruction and under the supervision of a physician. (3) For dandruff, brushing, scalp massage and a good astringent tonic for the oily type, or hot oil or vaseline treatments for dry type. Send addressed, stamped envelope for my hair bulletins.

Dear Miss Pierce: What may be done for deep frown lines between eyes, running up and down, not across. I massage constantly with cold cream, but to no avail. Also what can be done to soften stiff hair?

BETTY J.

Dear Betty J.: Have patience. Continue to pat and mold with a good cream or a ready-prepared wrinkle or muscle oil. Smooth horizontally, that is, against the direction of the deep line. Then pat with cushion parts of fingers, quick taps to stimulate the circulation. (2) to soften stiff hair, brushing is excellent, also scalp massage and oil treatments if hair is dry. Occasional steaming may help. When hair has been shampooed, arrange in place while wet, tie veil or net over the hair and allow it to dry naturally. Don't allow hair to dry while disarranged. Spray a little water over hair if it is stiff and oily, to help set and soften between shampoos; or if hair is dry type spray a little brilliantine over it or rub lightly with vaseline before combing.

Fifth Avenue Fashions

SIMPLE BUT DIFFERENT.

WHEN Paris has originated some clever little device or cut which lends interest and smartness to a simple frock, she is pleased. She realizes from long experience how charming simple clothes can be. The neckline of today's model is adorable, so young and flattering. You can have the edge of the ruffles picoted. The gored skirt with slightly circular nemline fullness, is decidedly length-giving, making the figure appear gracefully tall.

White crepe silk with blue spots made the master dress with plain white contrasting. And the whole affair is so easy. You'll be delighted with the saving in cost and the short time it will take you to fashion it.

Numberless washing silks as flat crepe in white or pastel shade, shirting fabrics, pique and shantung make up marvelously in this model.

As for the cotton materials, so much favored this season, they adapt themselves perfectly and you'll find them so inexpensive. For instance, take a pale blue pique with the ruffling and brief sleeves of crisp white organdie is dainty, yet practical. Then, too, take dusty pink novelty mesh cotton with the inset yoke and vest and the ruffling of white pique is fetching. A sports-weight linen in yellow sheer striped linen for the bodice yoke and ruffling is unusually lovely and suited for town or resort.

Style No. 2789 may be had in sizes 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. For the 16-year size, 3⅛ yards of 39-inch material with ⅝ yard of 39-inch contrasting is sufficient to make it. Price of pattern, 15 cents.

Our Summer Fashion Magazine shows all the new and interesting styles for vacation and every-day wear. Every page in color.

You can save the price of the book over and over again, and look your very best.

Send 10 cents for your copy of our Summer Fashions. Address Fashion Department, The Washington Post, Fifth avenue and Twenty-third street, New York City.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

And here's a Dah-ray design that you can transfer on something or other!

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 26.—There is nothing that has ever been invented which can take away the blues and the boredom like doing something with one's own ten fingers! I tell you, if you haven't tried it, then you simply haven't lived.

Take an off night, for instance. Nothing to do, and an aversion to doing anything. Reading, always—but one tires of that. To bed and not to sleep—well-l-l-l-l, I'll leave it to you how one tires of that! Try doing something—creating something, at least working on something, just for the diversion it will give you. I absolutely promise you that it will be a diversion!

There are so many things to do. You may knit or crochet, if you care for that. Or make dainty hankies for your own delight, with delightful little rolled edges, dainty hand hems, or perhaps lace borders. Or "lingerie touches" which means little collars and cuffs and white things to wear at your throat and wrists on your dark colored fall frocks—to make them seem more elegant and ever so new and 'spensive. Or you can make book covers, or decorate boxes—why, I could go on forever with what you could do with your fingers in the way of creative work!

No, you don't have to have any especial talent to do finger work, either. Just try something, and see for yourself—that how, with the proper instructions, of course, you can do this and that artistic thing with your own hands. And then the thrill of achievement! I made it—if you haven't ever known the little secret thrill that attends this remark, you haven't lived, I say.

Try it—sometime, any time. Make anything, from a pie to a millyun dollah lamp—only do. And thank me for introducing you to something which circumvents ennui.

* * * *

The very first thing you are to do is to cut out the design I have made for you today, and paste it into your scrapbook. 'Cause in doing finger work, you just never can tell when you will need a dragon design—and then try and get one, a good one, I mean (ahem!).

Then the second thing you are to do is to send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for the illustrated leaflet which tells you how to do things with designs—as well as giving you some special designs, too. The "off" night will surely come, when you will just be glad to try out my suggestion for doing something or other that is creative—you'll see! So prepare for it—and Christmas, and your old age and everything—and send for this leaflet.

* * * *

And now, crepe stockings! Something new in the crepe family, my deah—a new arrival, and from all appearances, a welcome one. Especially with the light weight woolen dresses that look like crepe, or any of the new rayon materials that look like woolen, are these stockings, chic. And please be informed that they are astonishingly inexpensive, and quite, quite stubborn about which direction they are going to run—only one way, my deah, and that is up! Or else they don't run at all, more often than not.

Au revoir.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

EFFECTS OF FLUORIN.

V. A. writes: Will you please explain what fluorin is and what part of the body it affects which causes crumbling of the teeth that you wrote about recently.

REPLY.

Fluorin is one of the elements, just as are iron, gold, sulphur and oxygen. It is not as abundant in nature as is iron. It is present in some soils and, being somewhat soluble, it is found in some waters that come out of these soils.

Opinion is divided as to how much it has to do with crumbling teeth. A dentist who lives in a place where there is more than the average amount of fluorin in the water thinks it hardens the teeth in certain circumstances. A State health officer once advocated that idea. It could easily be that a certain amount of fluorin in the drinking water hardened the teeth and another amount caused them to crumble.

EGGS NOT TO BLAME.

A. J. writes:

1. Will eating two or three eggs a day cause kidney trouble?

2. What are the symptoms of gall trouble?

REPLY.

1. No.

2. I presume you mean infection of the gall bladder. Among the symptoms of that are indigestion, belching, night attacks of belching and indigestion; sometimes pain or tenderness on the side; occasionally, jaundice.

FEAR OF DOG BITE.

L. M. R. writes: How soon after one is bitten by a dog do symptoms of rabies appear?

REPLY.

The incubation period of rabies is variable. Two weeks may be said to be the shortest. Two months is not far from the mean. One year has been known to elapse—at least in lower animals.

In case the bite is around the face the period is apt to be short. If on a distant part of the body the period is apt to be longer. A severe bite and a severe infection is liable to cause a short period of infection and a violent attack of the disease, and vice versa.

As a rule, the incubation period is long enough to permit of a diagnosis and vaccination if prompt action is taken. The exceptions are usually those in which the bites are around the face.

DEEP BREATHING.

F. M. P. writes: What are some of the benefits derived from deep breathing? Is the morning the best time, or is it beneficial any time of the day? During periods of inflation and deflation, is it wise to hold the breath and count?

REPLY.

Deep breathing is fine exercise for the muscles of the chest, back, and neck. It is a good way of warming cold feet. Beyond that it is not of any particular service. It overloads the blood with oxygen, but that does no harm, since a period of deep breathing is always followed immediately by shallow breathing during which the blood gets rid of its overload of oxygen.

There are authorities who say that holding the breath while one counts throws too much strain on the heart. They are right if the heart is not well compensated.

Consult your convenience as to the time of deep breathing. Most persons do their breathing stunts before they dress in the morning. The time is convenient to most persons, and deep breathing at that time helps one to thoroughly waken, in this being of service to the w. k. cold face bath.

YAWNING.

C. J. S. writes: What is the cause and the cure of excessive yawning during the day, for apparently no reason?

REPLY:

The human machine differs from a clock. The latter runs at speed until it runs down. It gives no indication that it is about to run down. When the spring in the human machine is loosely wound, yawning is one way the body has for asking for more drive. When you are disposed to yawn, wind up. In other words, become interested, think more earnestly, work harder. Ninety-nine times out of a hundred that is all that need be done.

THERE IS NONE.

D. P. writes: What kind of kidney trouble is it that causes a breaking out on hands, feet, and legs?

REPLY:

None. You are watching the wrong rat hole.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

THE CANDIDATES ENTER THE STRATOSPHERE.

GOVERNOR ROOSEVELT.

6 a. m.—Took off in "The Forgotten Man" shortly after daybreak. McAdoo cutting the ropes. We are off to penetrate the unknown. Oh, to know what is in store for me!

6:30 a. m.—We are now over the Empire State Building in New York. Ice is forming on the balloon. It is also forming on Mr. Garner.

7:20 a. m.—I think we must be pretty high up, as we haven't heard Ogden Mills for more than an hour.

8 a. m.—It is impossible at this altitude to hear Patrick Hurley. Now I KNOW we are high up!

8:30 a. m.—We are drifting dangerously. I gained altitude by throwing over Mayor Walker, six sandbags and twenty-six cases of Hofstadter committee evidence.

9 a. m.—Just got a message from Tammany Hall. It read: "Bon voyage! Don't hurry back."

10 a. m.—We are now entering the stratosphere. It is extremely cold and dreary. I have not felt anything like it since the poll of the New York and New Jersey delegations at Chicago.

11:10 a. m.—It is now 50 below zero, but Garner is holding for the rise.

Noon—I am now studying the cosmic ray. Garner says that what we need is cosmic dough.

1 p. m.—I have hit upon a great campaign slogan: "Steady work and a cosmic raise for every man!"

* * * *

PRESIDENT HOOVER.

6 a. m.—We are off, Charlie and I. It is very bumpy, but I am used to it.

7 a. m.—I am having trouble with Charlie. He wants to fly the balloon sideways.

8:10 a. m.—There is something very funny about this flight. I have heard no objection from Borah.

8:45 a. m.—We are now 7 miles above the earth. The air is full of stocks bought at these levels in '29.

9 a. m.—We have just passed through a large field of Kreuger-Toll. We must be 10 miles up if we are up an inch.

10 a. m.—We are now well into the stratosphere. Our level is such that we can not hear a Roosevelt speech, a Borah objection or a bonus demand. It is lovely.

TOO LATE.

The roses they fade,
And the violets die;
The depression is finished—
And so am I.

—W. Rossi.

IT CAN'T BE TRUE.

After a careful study of the magazine ads addressed to women we have come to the conclusion that no woman can possibly have as much trouble keeping good looking, well groomed and presentable as the ads would indicate.

THE BARBER SHOP CHORD VS. CROONING.

"Why all these flat-footed statements against the return of the saloon?" demanded Elmer Twitchell. "I say it wouldn't be a bad thing to have it back, if only to restore some of the good fellowship and music that we used to have before crooning set in."

THE SOCIAL WHIRL.

(From the Hollister, Calif., Free Lance.)

"The camp was used by 93 campers and 21 parties. The entertainment included harmonica solos by Bert Sollars, experience of poultry men by A. T. Hain, recitations by Barbara Holmes, squaw dance by Mrs. Sandelands and instrumental numbers.

"Loyd and Jack Schmidt enjoyed a horseback ride to Tully Mountain Sunday. They cleaned out a spring."

Insular Leaders Rap Freedom Bill

Hawes-Cutting Measure's Provisions for 19-Year Wait Attacked.

Manila, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Opposition to the Hawes-Cutting bill pending in the United States Senate was expressed today at a session of members of the Insular Legisfature, meeting as a Philippine Independence Mission.

A clash between Senator Manuel L. Quezon, president of the Insular Senate, and others here and members of the Independence Mission now campaigning for independence in Washington was aired. Cables were read from Senator Sergio Osmena and Speaker Manuel L. Roxas, in which they demanded they be given a free hand, without the Insular Legislature taking a definite stand.

Resolutions were presented to the meeting demanding that the Legislature take action opposing the Hawes-Cutting bill because of the 19-year period it proposes in making the transition from an American dependency to a free country. Another resolution urged that public hearings be held on the bill in Manila. Action, however, was deferred by the legislators until next week.

By ROBERT D. HEINL

LISTENERS throughout the United States will hear vivid descriptions of one of nature's greatest phenomena, a total eclipse of the sun, by announcers and scientists over both N. B. C. networks and the Columbia System next Wednesday, August 31.

In the meantime, Capt. J. F. Hellweg, superintendent of the United States Naval Observatory here, will tell the WRC audience tonight what he and other scientists hope to learn from the eclipse. He will speak from the New York studios at 6:15 o'clock.

Preparatory to Columbia's actual broadcast description of the solar eclipse from Conway, N. H., next Wednesday, Prof. Harlow Shapley will speak tonight from the Harvard Observatory in Cambridge, Mass., during the Public Affairs Institute (WMAL, 9:15 o'clock).

Stanley Baldwin, British cabinet member and former prime minister, will explain the significance of the recent imperial conference in a broadcast from London via WMAL at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Mr. Baldwin, who was leader of the British delegation at the conference, left Ottawa so hurriedly at the conclusion of the meeting that he had no opportunity to issue a complete statement on the results of the economic session in which every unit of the empire was represented.

Renewal of contracts for the broadcast of "Music That Satisfies," continuing this nightly feature for the remainder of 1932, has been announced. Ruth Etting, the Boswell Sisters and Arthur Tracy will continue as the talent.

Ruth Etting will be the soloist tonight (WMAL, 9 o'clock), singing "Holding My Honey's Hand," "Just a-Wearyin' for You" and "Lady I Love." Nathaniel Shilkret's orchestra will accompany her.

W. J. CLEARMAN, former chief investigator for the Federal Radio Commission, has opened offices as a radio consultant here. Mr. Clearman entered the commission as its assistant secretary within a month after its first meeting and acted in the capacity of chief investigator for the past four years.

He will serve radio stations in cooperation with their attorneys in the preparation of cases—making field investigations, taking depositions of witnesses and attending to other necessary matters in connection with hearings before the Federal Radio Commission.

Mr. Clearman's offices are located at 3824 Warren street northwest.

Melodious Hawaiian strains of the Coral Islanders, directed by William Lincoln, will be heard via WMAL at 9:45 p. m. The "Kohala March" and "Pagan Love Song" are among the selections.

ERNO RAPEE will temporarily halt his mythical tour of the world tonight, having prepared a program of music of the colored race. A concert orchestra, the Southernaires Quartet, a male ensemble, and Eva Taylor, soloist, will aid Rapee in the presentation of the program.

The broadcast will open with a native chant consisting of songs and tales from the Dark Continent. The second offering will be "In Dark Africa," and the orchestra will accompany the chorus. It will mark the first presentation of the composition, written by J. Rosamond Johnson, and will depict "Akosia's Wedding," based on an African legend. The Southernaires will introduce a group of plantation songs. The male ensemble will sing the march of the "Sambre et Meuse," a typical Moroccan tune. The last part of the half-hour will be devoted to music of Harlem and the South.

Ted Fiorito and his orchestra, playing from the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco, and Charlie Agnew's orchestra, playing in Chicago, will be heard during the Lucky Strike Dance Hour (WRC, 9 o'clock) tonight.

Nails on Runway Menace to Planes

Eight Pounds Picked Up as Two Ships Narrowly Escape Crashing.

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Some person has literally strewn the runways at Norfolk Airport with disaster. Roofing nails—eight pounds of them—have been picked up from the airport runways and still planes are coming limping in with their tires punctured by the sharp little spikes. Logan H. Parker, local flier, narrowly escaped disaster two days ago when one of the nails punctured a tire on his training plane a moment after the wheels had touched the ground in a landing.

The plane spun violently to the right and had Parker not slammed on his brakes immediately would have nosed over at 50 miles an hour.

A heavily loaded passenger plane bumped to a halt a few days ago, one wing perilously low, as a result of a punctured tire. Investigation is being made to catch the culprit.

Couch Meets Moreland In Final

Texan Rallies to Win From Seaver in Semifinal.

Couch Beats Lehman, Realizes Ambition in West Amateur.

By PAUL MICKELSON.

ROCKFORD COUNTRY CLUB, Ill., Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Gus Moreland, pride of the Texas fairways, and Ira Couch, young Chicago broker, charged into the finals of the Western amateur championship today.

Surviving furious engagements over the rolling hills of the championship Rockford Country Club course, Moreland staged a dramatic comeback in the final seven holes of a 36-hole drive to defeat Charlie Seaver, of Los Angeles, the Stanford University football player, one up, while Couch came right behind him with the realization of a long awaited ambition in golf—a 3 and 2 conquest over Johnny Lehman, of Chicago, who escorted him out of the Western championship in the finals in 1930.

Not even the championship itself could be much sweeter than today's victories for the serious 21-year-old Texan and the Phlegmatic Chicagoan, who meet tomorrow for the crown. To Moreland's followers it was a clincher to the argument shouted clear across the Lone Star State several weeks ago when Seaver, and not he, was named a member of America's Walker Cup team.

Moreland-Seaver Steal Show.

The tussle between Moreland and Seaver easily stole the show, although Couch's triumph was regarded as a distinct upset. The match was squared six times and wasn't decided until the last putt was downed. It saw Seaver, one down and one to go, arch a perfect shot from behind some spreading trees to land 5 feet from the pin only to lose his chance for a birdie and a tie match by one inch. Moreland halved that hole after going off the green with his second and it was all over.

The moreland-Seaver fight was one of putts and short iron shots with each one thrilling the gallery with dead approaches and long putts.

Of the two finalists, Moreland stood out as an almost prohibitive favorite to win the title because of his generally better golf and tournament experience. Couch's only championship was the Western Junior eleven years ago, while Moreland has been rapping at golf's hall of fame for several years. He won the transmississippi title in his last important start.

Margaret Ravior Is Winner Of Women's 10-Mile Swim

Philly Girl Gains 3d Straight Victory on Lake Ontario.

MARGARET RAVIOR.

TORONTO, Ontario, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—For the third time in as many years, Margaret Ravior, husky Philadelphia girl, won the women's 10-mile professional marathon swim in Lake Ontario today.

Churning into the lead before the first mile had been covered, Miss Ravior steadily increased her advantage on each lap of the six-lap course and won first prize money of $3,000 by nearly 15 minutes and 1,500 yards from Evelyn Armstrong, of Detroit, the runner-up. Miss Armstrong's share of the prize money was $1,500.

Third place and $700 went to May Looney, of Warren, Ohio; fourth and $500 to Dorothy Nalevaiko, Glen Cove, N. Y.; fifth and $200 to Ruth Tower Corsan, of Toronto; sixth and $100 to Ruth Downing, of Toronto.

Miss Ravior's time today, 5 hous 22 minutes 18 seconds, was far slower than last year when she won in 4:56:44 4-10. Times for the other leaders were: Miss Armstrong, 5:37:05; Miss Looney, 5:42:39; Miss Nalevaiko, 5:59:39; Mrs. Corsan, 6:03:21, and Miss Downing, 6:08:29.

Miss Ravior turned the race into a parade once the first mile had been covered. She led Miss Armstrong by more than 5 yards at that stage of the battle, increased it to 100 yards on the second lap, led by 300 yards at the end of 5 miles and 1,000 yards at the end of the first 8 miles. Like a machine she churned through the water at a steady, powerful beat of 56 to the minute and left her closest rival, Miss Armstrong, farther and farther behind.

Miss Armstrong held second place throughout and her grasp on that position was never threatened once Leah Riley, Keansburg, N. J., girl, was forced to quit at the halfway mark. Miss Riley was in third place at that time, giving Miss Armstrong a close battle for a runner-up post.

Miss Looney, who had been trailing Miss Riley in fourth place, automatically moved into third position when the New Jersey girl withdrew and held on to that post the rest of the way. Mrs. Corsan was fourth most of the way, but was overhauled by Miss Nalevaiko in the last couple of miles.

MACKS BEAT BROWNS IN 9TH, 5-4

Simmons' Hit Decides; Grove, Foxx Slam Out Homers.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—An exciting ninth-inning finish today gave Lefty Grove his twentieth victory of the season, the Athletics nosing out the St. Louis Browns, 5 to 4. Simmons' single to deep short with Cochrane on third and two out won the game after the Browns had tied it at 4-to-4 in their half of the ninth.

Grove contributed heavily to the win when his fourth home run of the season, and his second in five days, accounted for two runs in the second inning. Jimmy Foxx hit his forty-seventh homer and Al Simmons his twenty-eighth. Stewart was charged with the defeat.

Hawthorne Race Track, Ill., Aug. 26 (A.P.).—The Northway Stable's Gallant Sir, making his first start since he ran eighth in the Kentucky Derby, romped to an easy victory in the Rolling Green Purse at Hawthorne today.

Melvin Lewis rushed Gallant Sir to the front at the start and led at every post. A. Anderson, on Stock Market, the favorite, could get no closer to the victor than a length and a half. Sobieha finished third. Gallant Sir, a 3-year-old son of Galahad III—Sun Pot, ran the 6 furlongs in 1:13 1-5, and paid $7.80 to win. Such good ones as Sweep All, Don Leon and Colonial Belle were among the conquered.

HOMERS WIN FOR YANKS, 4 TO 2

Ruth and Gehrig Hit for Circuit; Allen Wins No. 14.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—For the second day in succession the Yankees took the home-run route to a victory over the Cleveland Indians, winning 4 to 2 today, with Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig providing the winning wallops.

Three of the four Yankee runs came from circuit swats by their home-run "twins," but the youthful Johnny Allen also was an important figure in the victory.

Allen gave up only four hits and struck out six, as he outpitched Wesley Ferrell in the tight duel. He won his eighth straight victory and his fourteenth of the season. He has lost only two decisions.

Gehrig's four-ply drive, his twenty-ninth of the season, was made in the third inning after Ruth had drawn a pass. It gave the Yanks the lead for the first time after Cleveland had started off ahead on Joe Vosmik's homer in the second.

The Indians tied the count in the fourth when Lazzeri muffed Cissell's fly, letting the runner reach second, and Vosmik drove him home with a double. Ruth promptly put the Yanks ahead to stay by parking his thirty-seventh homer of the campaign in the right-field bleachers after two were out.

Robins Again Victims of Cubs, 10-4

Chicago Takes Series as Warneke Wins Season's 19th.

Cubs Score 9 Times in 3d Off Trio of Moundsmen.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Lonnie Warneke learned the way to victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers today after losing three decisions to them, and the Cubs built up their lead in the National League race by taking the final game from Brooklyn, 10 to 4.

It was a one-inning game again and a nine-run rally in the third gave Warneke his nineteenth victory of the season. He has lost only five, three to the Dodgers.

The Cubs' triumph brought them a clean sweep and put them in a position as strong favorites to capture the pennant, while Brooklyn was left fighting to hold second place from the Pittsburgh Pirates, who were only a half game behind, after a victory over the Phillies today.

Cubs' Starters Score Run Each.

Every man in the Chicago starting line-up scored a run and made at least one hit during the game, and most of them did it in the third. In that one inning they collected eight hits off Hollis Thurston, Dazzy Vance and Jack Quinn. Mark Koenig smacked two singles, Warneke and Hartnett hit doubles and Stephenson clouted a triple. A walk, an error by Stripp, a fielder's choice which allowed Herman to reach first and Warneke to third on a sacrifice and a stolen base also contributed to the rush of runs. Hartnett, who started things, scored twice in the frame.

Hack Wilson, who had made only two hits all season at Wrigley Field, led the Dodgers with two singles and his twenty-first home run of the season. Dan Taylor also hit for the circuit, but the two homers, bringing in three runs, came late in the game.

Nats Depend On Crowder For Today

Johnson Keeps Myer, Reynolds on Bench Against Tigers.

Thomas Is Trying to Dodge Operation on His Arm.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

WASHINGTON and Detroit marked time yesterday while all of the other teams in the league were scheduled to get busy and the off day proved quite helpful to the Nats, who advanced a half game over the fourth place Indians, who bowed for the third straight time to the Yankees.

"General" Alvin Crowder, who, like Fred Marberry, is proving to be quite an iron man, is due to take the slab for the residents when the series is resumed at Griffith Stadium this afternoon, while Vic Sorrell, one of the few bespectacled players in captivity, is expected to oppose him. Sorrell has proven to be an exceptionally hard nut for the Nats to crack this season and quite a battle is looked for.

In the two games already played between the two teams, the Washington club has come out on top, making the series count 9-8 in their favor, so a loss today will make the two even again, to say nothing of the blow it would be to the Nats' third-place hopes.

Outfielder Carl Reynolds and Second Baseman Buddy Myer could resume their places in the line-up if necessary, but Manager Walter Johnson intimated last night that he would keep them on the bench a while longer. Reynolds, as a result of weakness from the six-week liquid diet while recuperating from a broken jaw, gets dizzy spells from any undue exertion while Myer has been bothered by a stiffend right hip.

With their substitutes, performing so well, the Nat pilot sees no need for rushing either back into the game. Sam Rice, in right has been hitting and fielding in great style, while Johnny Kerr, at second, has done all that could be expected of a good infielder, while he, too, has been doing his share at bat. He was responsible for both of Washington's runs in Wednesday's victory, while he cracked out a trio of safeties Thursday.

Pitcher Alphonse (Tommy) Thomas is still trying to dodge an operation on his salary wing. He plans to take warm-ups today and tomorrow and, if the soreness refuses to leave, probably will have to have to take the ether. He has hopes of being able to finish out the season without facing an operation, but there is considerable doubt in his mind at this time. In any event, he likely will be out of action during the remainder of this home stay.

Red Sox Beat Chisox, 11-8; Berry Leads Attack

Boston, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—The Red Sox took a free-hitting game from the White Sox, 11 to 8, today to gain a two-to-one edge in their four-game series.

The visitors made eighteen hits to thirteen for the Red Sox but Chicago's pitchers showed a decided lack of control, issuing fourteen bases on balls. Charlie Berry, Chicago catcher, had a perfect day at bat with a walk, single, two doubles and a homer.

East's Star Paddlers Seek Honors in Regatta Today

Middle States Event on Potomac Lure for Canoeists.

HARRY KNIGHT.

NATIONALLY known figures in the realm of racing canoes will strain muscles for greater honor and glory this afternoon on the historic Potomac River in the Middle Atlantic championships. The big paddle regatta commences at 2 o'clock.

Fourteen separate events make up the competitive end of the program, but that is but one feature, another being the appearance of the S. S. Apache, Coast Guard boat, with amplifying apparati and special Coast Guard exhibits.

Eddie Reidel, national double-blade champion, representing the Pendleton Canoe Club, of Philadelphia, is one of the racing figures entered. Granville Gude, former American champion, and holder once of the Diamond Sculls title, is another star who sends his frail craft down the placid waters of the river in quest of one of the many prizes and titles at stake.

Harry Knight, shiny-pated dean of Washington's racing canoists, and once more representing the Washington Canoe Club, will swing into action again.

Not the least entertaining feature of the program will be the canoe tilting contests, a rarely seen but highly enjoyable sport. Lawrence Buscher, giant Western High School youth and one of the most accomplished tilters in the country, will be among those in action.

The racing course has been laid-out over an area near the Arlington Memorial Bridge. Advantage points are both sides of the Potomac, and on the bridge itself.

Latona and Shore Annex Capital City Doubles Crown

COMING from behind after seeing their opponents reel off seven straight games, Anthony Latona and Frank Shore, Washington's promising young tennis doubles team, yesterday won the doubles end of the Capital City Tennis League tournament at Henry Park, beating the defending champions, Pat Deck and Bill Seidel, 0—6, 6—2, 6—2, 6—4.

Forced in error after error by the quick-dropping drives of Bill Seidel and the consistency of Pat Deck, Shore and Latona seemed headed for stunning defeat as game after game was checked up in favor of the defending champions. Then the two youngsters dammed the flow of shots off Deck's and Seidel's racquets when they broke through Deck in the eighth game of the match.

The victory gave them confidence and lent steadiness to their shots. They soon had corrected their greatest fault, failure to return service, and it was Deck and Seidel who now fell into errors.

Singularly enough, Latona and Shore, out-and-out volleyers, remained in the back court throughout a majority of the rest of the match, allowing Deck and Seidel to attack from the barrier, but the inability of the latter two netmen to deal decisively with lobs made their stand at the net ineffectual.

The singles finals will be played tomorrow afternoon at Wardman Park Hotel at 2:30 o'clock between Latona and Bob Considine. The massive Deck Trophy is at stake. Latona is defending champion.

PARR AND BRUCE HORSES TO RACE AT MARLBORO MEETING

Garth Brings String From Canada

Capacity Gathering of Racers Expected by End of Week.

Annual 5-Day Meeting Gets Under Way Next Tuesday.

THE second lap of Maryland's racing season, which opens next Tuesday at Marlboro, down in Prince Georges County, should see a capacity thoroughbred colony judging by the manner in which applications for stalls are pouring into General Manager Joseph B. Boyle.

Maj. G. L. Stryker, well known breeder of Fowson, has notified Trainer Louis Campbell to make his charges ready for the Southern Maryland Agricultural Fair Association's session.

Other well known Maryland turfmen whose colors will be seen during the approaching Marlboro meeting are William Shewbridge, H. Guy Bedwell, of Savage, the only Marylander ever to lead the list of American money winning trainers, J. P. (Buddy) Mayberry, who handles the horses of the Wistoria Stable; Richard Pending, E. A. Raymond, Ral Parr, Howard Bruce, J. Bowes Bond, J. R. Leslie, J. Yancy Christmas, Charles J. Meister and F. J. Vollmer.

Kelly to Have Charge Of Group.

The Parr and Bruce horses, which summered on the old J. K. L. Ross farm near Laurel, will be vanned to Marlboro on the days they are to race. They will very likely be saddled by the veteran Mike Kelly, as Head Trainer Elmer Trueman is busy prepping up the main division of the Parr and Bruce strings for a strenuous fall campaign on State mile tracks.

William Garth, beloved turfman of Charlottesville, Va., has been racing his own, as well as several horses for Mrs. C. Wingfield all summer in Canada. He will ship to the Southern Maryland course this week, so that he can thoroughly test his charges over the reconditioned racing strip.

Larry Damm and Scotch Blossom are others in Garth's care, who should earn their way during the Southern Maryland Agricultural Fair Association's session.

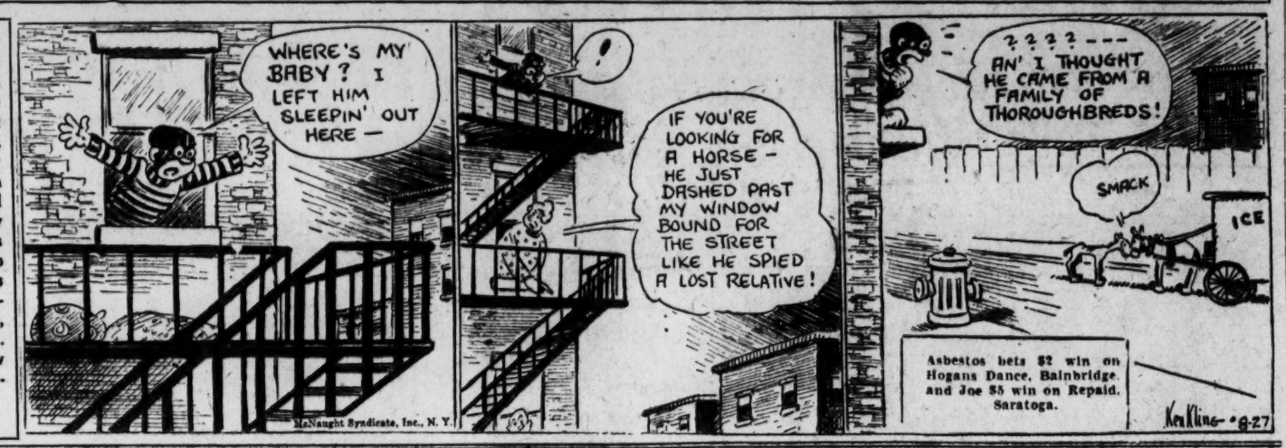
JOE AND ASBESTOS

(Watch Sunday's Post for New Secret Code) —By Ken Kling

The sleeper Joe has for today's big Saratoga race probably won't be picked one, two or three by any selector in the country and will pay plenty if it wins. Let's wish the sap luck. Today's code at Bainbridge, 14, 6, 14, 14, 2, 20, 8, 1. Joe's roll is now $204.25. Asbestos has $28.60.



AT THE POST

with Bill Bennings

DEAR AL: HAWTHORNE RACE TRACK, CHICAGO, AUG. 26.

Tomorrow is another day and there is a bit of class scattered among the different events. The Gold Cup is the real attraction and the event is more open than appears at first blush. Faireno will be the choice and his works since his recent arrival have been excellent. He is a front runner and whether or not he can stick it out for the full mile and a quarter is the question.

Tommy Malley will be up on Faireno while Gusto will have Coucci in the pilot house. Mel Lewis, the jock sensation at Hawthorne, will ride Minton. Yours, BILL.

FIRST RACE—OZITI gave the boys a keen surprise the last time, stepping out to score at long odds. I see no reason why this one can't repeat. BRONX PARK and FLIRTING appear to be the best of the others.

SECOND RACE—GRAND PRINCE carries top weight in this test, but I believe him capable of scoring with the impost. THE POINT may be second at a long price. CHATTER QUEEN to supply the third running.

THIRD RACE—CAMP BOSS to upset these. ETCETRA and CALF ROPER to battle it out for the place award.

FOURTH RACE—I'm taking BALLYGRAN in this sprint and you can expect a neat price. This baby loves the rail and has the necessary speed to take advantage of that No. 1 post. ESSEFF and GLORITONE for the remainder.

FIFTH RACE—PLAYDALE to take the measure of this group. Not the best animal in the world but a good one on occasions. KINCSEN and VALENCIENNES for the place battle.

SIXTH RACE—I'm forced to hop on the band wagon with the others and pick FAIRENO in the feature. I'd like to put CHARLEIGH on top but that 126 pounds has scared me off. A horse that may be entirely overlooked, but which has a good chance is EVERGOLD. Get down across the board.

SEVENTH RACE—HAPPY FELLOW ran away the last time and came back to beat this kind. Maybe he can repeat. HATTERAS and KNEE HIGH for the rest.

EIGHTH RACE—TONY JOE seems to have found a spot. BLACK PATRICIA and WISE LEE for the place struggle.

Late Buying Pushes Stocks Higher After Early Losses

Average Gain of One Point Recorded in Turnover of 3,116,755 Shares.

New York, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—A fresh wave of buying sneaked up on the stock market from the rear today, after the list had been drifting lower during most of the day.

Early losses of 1 to 4 points in prominent issues were almost wholly canceled in a late buying flurry, and several prominent issues closed with net gains of 1 to 3 or 4.

The share market turned dull on the decline, and although trading quickened markedly in the late upswing, the day's transfers aggregated only 3,116,755 shares, or about a million less than yesterday's.

The list opened lower, and an effort to turn it upward in the first half hour by short squeeze in Auburn was abandoned when announcement of the receivership for Interborough Rapid Transit had a sobering effect.

The selling appeared completely to have evaporated by midafternoon, however, and aided by cheerful weekly mercantile reviews and optimistic analysis of the economic situation at the Washington conference, bull forces launched a new drive.

The price average of 60 leading issues gained 1 point, more than recovering its loss of 6-10 of a point yesterday, and registered a new top since the middle of March at 66.6, but was only 4.7 points under the 1932 peak, reached in the second week of March, and well above the 1931 low reached in December.

Rails were a soft spot during the morning sag, presumably reflecting in part the sharp setback in railroad bonds in the previous session. The petition for a receiver for the Frisco Railroad filed by a small bondholder, may have had a momentarily adverse effect, although the management expressed confidence that there was no legal basis for the suit.

Probably the principal reason for selling was a feeling that rails had been going ahead too rapidly. The July earnings statements currently appearing show little change from June, when many carriers were failing to earn the interest on their bonds. A relatively small increase was looked for in tomorrow's weekly report of the movement of revenue freight.

Union Pacific after selling off about 4 points, rallied to close up 1 net. American Telephone and U. S. Steel were leaders in the late upswing, rising about 3 points to new highs for the recovery. They receded a little from the best in the final dealings. U. S. Steel preferred closed up about 4.

Auburn was up nearly 9 points at the best, but closed up little more than 5, net. U S Industrial Alcohol, Ingersoll Rand, American Agricultural Chemical, Delaware & Hudson and Lackawanna closed about 3 points higher. Issues up a point or two included American Can, Santa Fe, Case, International Harvester, Consolidated Gas, Corn Products, North American, Western Union and others. Westinghouse Electric finished ⅝ of a point lower.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

(Associated Press.)

LONDON—Prices developed irregularly on the stock exchange due to week-end profit-taking which caused slight setbacks in gilt-edged securities, speculative favorites and transatlantic issues. Rubber shares, cable and wireless issues and Kaffirs were firm on general buying. The market closed irregular.

PARIS—The tone of the bourse continued firm despite profit-taking. Rentes were quiet while bank shares, international issues and oils were strong. The closing was firm.

BERLIN—Early trading was unsettled on the domestic uncertainty as von Papen's economic program, but the market later turned firm.

CLOSING BOND RALLY REGAINS EARLY LOSS

Rails Lifted From Slump by Buying Support in $13,751,000 Sales.

New York, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—The bond market today indulged in one of its most erratic sessions in some weeks, slumping sharply at one time only to recover most of its losses in late trading.

The speculative rails were the wildest performers, many of them dropping from 1 to 7 or more points before last-minute support arrived to lift them back to within reaching distance of their previous levels.

The activity slowed down in the decline, sales totaling only $13,751,000, par value, or $1,000,000 less than yesterday's aggregate. The average for 60 corporate issues was three-tenths of a point lower.

The market viewed with some misgiving nouncement of a receivership for the Interborough Rapid Transit and threats of similar action in the St. Louis-San Francisco road.

The heaviest rail losers, before fresh buying turned the tide, included some loans of Baltimore & Ohio, Canadian Pacific, Chesapeake Corporation, St. Paul, Chicago & Northwestern, Erie Great Northern, Illinois Central, Missouri Pacific and Nickel Plate.

The rail reaction spread to the utilities and industrials and the majority of these were off from fractions to a point or more.

The United States Government section was quiet and easy. In the foreign department, the Germans rallied moderately and Kreuger & Toll 5s were in demand for a gain of more than 2 points. The Australians, Norwegians and Japanese reacted. South Americans were steady.

U. S. Northwest Yields Lead To B. C. in Lumber Exports

Seattle, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—The West Coast Lumbermen's Association reported today that for the first time in the history of the Pacific Northwest lumber industry British Columbia mills shipped more lumber to foreign countries in July than did the combined mills of Oregon and Washington. British Columbia shipped 43,400,000 feet, or 59.6 per cent of the total of 72,800,000 feet.

In the past Washington has accounted for more than half the export lumber trade of the area, with Oregon second and British Columbia third.

In July Washington shipped 27.7 per cent or 20,200,000 feet, and Oregon 12.6 per cent, or 9,200,000 feet.

Australia and the United Kingdom, representing two markets now almost closed to Washington and Oregon mills, due to preferential trade agreements with Canada, took 32,600,000 feet of the amount shipped by British Columbia.

CURB PRICES CLIMB IN CLOSING TRADING

Trend Follows Big Board in 460,000-Share Sale; Specialties Lead.

New York, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—The curb market rose and fell, and then rallied again today, closely in accordance with similar movements on the larger stock exchange market.

Sales reached 460,000 shares, against 580,000 yesterday, and the market closed with prices irregularly higher.

The specialties drew considerable attention. The usually quiet stock of the Walgreen Co. again forged through to a new 1932 high price. The stock closed up 2¼ points.

American Superpower also came in for considerable attention, following the recent action of directors in declaring a dividend on the first preferred stock. This security moved up 3½ points on top of its sharp rally yesterday, and the common gained ⅜ to a new high at 6½.

The oils were quiet, Standard of Indiana registering no change in price, while Gulf and International Petroleum made fractional gains, and Humble Oil eased a little.

The aviation stocks were quietly firm.

WHEAT VALUES SINK; GAINS CUT DECLINES

Corn Holds Firm in Mixed Closing; Provisions and Oats Sold Off.

Chicago, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—Wheat had a reactionary tendency during most of the session today, although a late substantial recovery from the low point was made, following improvement in the stock market. Generally bearish routine news caused some early weakness after an opening flurry of strength. Profit-taking by Eastern interests eased prices down a cent below yesterday's finish, before buying brought about a moderate rally.

Corn and oats were easier with wheat, provisions eased with grains. Wheat closed weak, ⅛ to ⅛ cent lower than yesterday's final quotations, corn mixed, ¼ to ⅜ lower to ¼ higher, oats steady to ⅛ off, and provisions steady to 8 cents down.

Chicago wheat was chilled by the action of Liverpool in refusing to follow advances on this side of the Atlantic. Shipments from Argentina and Australia for the week were larger than last week, with the former exporting 1,124,000 bushels and the latter 917,000. Stocks remaining in these countries for export this season were 33,000,000 bushels smaller than a year ago. Russian offers have been withdrawn completely.

Corn held rather well in the face of wheat weakness and free selling by the country. Corn belt news was mixed, some of the Western and Northwestern States reporting good rains with the crop safe in many sections.

Oats were largely steady, although the movement was still heavy.

Provisions were easier with grains and because of scattered selling.

Domestic Copper Firm; Europe Is Still Buying

New York, Aug. 26 (A.P.).—It was reported in copper trade circles today that copper for domestic shipment can no longer be obtained under 5½ cents a pound delivered. Producers are said to be reluctant to sell at 5½ cents beyond the end of 1932. Domestic inquiry is somewhat better.

European buying continues in good volume, it is reported, with the price abroad 5.60 to 5.65 cents a pound.

Cuba Plans Internal Loan.

INCOME LOSS LISTED BY CAPITAL RAILWAY

Washington Electric Reveals Deficit of $5,039 in Net Earnings.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

The July statement covering rail operations of the Washington Railway & Electric Co., filed yesterday with the Public Utilities Commission, revealed a deficit of $5,039.50 in the net income item, as contrasted with a surplus of $33,472.36 in this item for the month last year. Net income for the first seven months of 1932 totals $959,357.48, as compared with $1,-118,556.96 for the corresponding period a year ago.

The company's statement covering operations of buses reported a deficit in the net income item for last month of $10,963.27, an advance from one of $4,938.38 for July, 1931, and a deficit of $26,155.94 for the seven months of this year, as compared with a surplus of $3,788.42 for the similar period last year.

The statement of a subsidiary, the Washington Interurban Railway Co., showed a deficit in net income for July of $654.83, as against one of $21.31 in the month a year ago and a deficit for the seven months of 1932 of $2,349.92 in comparison with one of $685.82 for the first seven months of last year.

Potomac Electric Power Co. also submitted its July report yesterday. This listed net income for last month as $334,369.09, a decline of $774.01 from that for July, 1931, and for the seven months of this year, $2,647,-763.60, a decrease of $12,675.17 from that for the like period a year ago.

At the regular meeting of the board of directors of Commercial Credit Co. yesterday, regular quarterly dividends on the 6½ per cent and 7 per cent first preferred stocks, 8 per cent class B preferred and the $3 class A convertible stocks were declared, payable September 30, to stockholders of record at the close of business September 10.

In view of the approaching dull season and the continued decline in current volume of business and reduction in amount of receivables outstanding, which will probably show no material improvement before next March, the directors decided to take no action on the dividend on the common stock at this time.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

THESUS, as originator of so brutal a game as early Greek boxing, had every right to be patron saint of the undertakers. His was a sport in which the loser invariably met death, and the winner was often so badly injured that he never recovered. Thesus, son of King Argus, started the sport, using his father's gladiators as participants. The boxers were armed with spiked or leaded gloves. They fought to a finish.

The sport swept the nation, and was introduced into the Olympic games, but because of the high toll among contestants the use of metal gloves was banned. Pugilism, such as the ancients knew it, died out. It was revived in England in the thirteenth century by James Figg.

The udder, according to the announcement, is divided into quarters and the milk from any one of these sections may differ greatly from the others in quantity, butterfat, bacteria, serum solids and in whatever other ways milk may differ.

28 INMATE SCOUTS GET FIRST CAMPING

Boys of National Training School Off for Camp Roosevelt Joys.

Twenty-eight boys sat on the top of the world last night and are jubilantly going to stay there until tomorrow evening.

Every lad jack of them is an inmate—inmate doesn't hold any somber meaning for them, however—of the National Training School for Boys out on Bladensburg road. The whole gang comprises the Boy Scout troop of the institution.

Yesterday the troop left for a two-day stay at Camp Roosevelt, summer camp of Washington Boy Scouts, on Chesapeake Bay. The composite excitement of the boys at the prospect before them was indicated clearly by the nervousness of several of them who were detailed to mess duty during the day. One of them narrowly missed spilling soup on a comrade's neck, and similar episodes enlivened the meals.

Unprecedented Treat.

Allowing the boys to enjoy such an outing is unprecedented at the institution. It is in line with the announced policy of Col. Claude D. Jones, superintendent, who in his less than two years' incumbency at the Bladensburg road school has worked wonders in his interpretation of juvenile penal methods.

Nineteen months ago Col. Jones, with the cooperation of Lynn C. Drake, District Boy Scout executive, and other officials, began his experiment of introducing scouting into the routine of the supposedly hardened youths who comprise the institution.

Thomas A. McCarthy, youthful recreational director at the school, was assigned as scoutmaster, and his troop, to all appearances, can compare today with crack scout outfits all over the land. The District scout officials are especially pleased with it.

Excel in Scout Work.

Many of the boys have passed their second-class scout examinations, which is reckoned a good percentage, and two have passed the quite difficult first-class scout test. All of the boys have shown proficiency in first aid tests and all are holders of Junior Red Cross life-saving certificates, able to resuscitate half-drowned persons.

"We have treated these boys the same as those in normal circumstances would have been treated," said McCarthy, "and their responses have been the same, if not better. It is all in line with our program to discharge these boys in shape to become good citizens. Not a one leaves here with any feeling of bitterness at his confinement and many want to and some have returned."

Will Not Be Watched.

McCarthy said the boys would not be watched during the camping period any more than any other group of scouts. A regular program of scouting, games, recreation and hiking has been laid out. Plenty of time for swimming has been provided for.

The lads will have the camp to themselves, the District Scouts having left for the summer. McCarthy will have three aids in supervising the activities of the boys—Bob Rees, another instructor; George Rose District Scout official, and Albert Michaud, friend of McCarthy.

The deportment of Johnny White, 15-year-old senior patrol leader, is a story in itself. Johnny is McCarthy's "right hand." Wise-eyed, Johnny marshals the troop with the facility of a veteran Marine sergeant. It might be pointed out that Johnny is crack 110-pound boxer and once took the District champ in that class into camp in an unofficial bout.

Wrathy Creditor Wrecks New Auto With Iron Bar

Charles Stull, colored, went out yesterday and bought himself a brand-new automobile. He proudly drove it out Wisconsin avenue and parked in front of his home, 3817 Thirty-sixth street northwest.

He had been in the house only a few minutes when a series of loud crashes were heard outside. Hurrying to learn the cause, Stull gasped in astonishment. His new car was gradually becoming a wreck.

Stull rubbed his eyes and looked again. Sure enough, there was a man slowly but surely demolishing the machine with a huge iron bar. Stull went into action. The man fled, dropping the bar.

Police were called. Stull said he recognized the man as a "friend" to whom he owed a small debt. The "friend," Stull declared, apparently became angry at sight of the new car.

FEDERAL VETERANS RETIRE WITH GIFTS

Henry A. Fraser, of Navy, and Albert H. Huber Are Honored.

Henry A. Fraser, 71 years old, a junior administrative assistant in the office of the Judge Advocate General of the Navy, and Albert H. Huber, a machinist in the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, were retired from the Government service yesterday after serving 35 and 36 years, respectively.

Rear Admiral Orin G. Murfin, judge advocate general, presented a fountain pen and gold piece to Mr. Fraser on behalf of fellow workers, who attended the retirement ceremonies. Mr. Fraser entered the Navy in 1887 and, after serving in various capacities, he was appointed in 1901 to the office of the Judge Advocate General, where he remained until his retirement.

He has a wife and two children. His home is at 661 K street northeast.

A billfold and a gift of money was presented to Mr. Huber by Malcolm C. Hankins on behalf of the employes of the machine division, where he worked. In his service Mr. Huber worked in the Bureau of Census, the Navy Yard, the Postoffice Department and the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. He is a life member of Washington Lodge, of Elks.

Avenue Postoffice To Have New Name

To Be Benjamin Franklin Station After Laying of Corner Stone.

When President Hoover lays the corner stone for the new Postoffice Department Building on September 26, the postal station located in the Postoffice Department will have a new name. It will then be "Benjamin Franklin Station," instead of "Pennsylvania Avenue Station."

An order effecting this was issued yesterday by Postmaster General Brown. The Benjamin Franklin Station will be moved to permanent headquarters in the new Postoffice Building when the latter is completed in the spring of 1934.

Special arrangements will be made for the dispatching of letter mail on September 26 showing the name of the new station, postmark and the date and hour of its establishment. Collectors wishing first day cancellations and a special cachet may send a limited number of addressed letters with sufficient stamps to the postmaster, Washington, D. C., to be received not later than September 22. The outside of the package of covers should be marked "For September 26 cancellation."

Police Car Speed Saves Youth's Life

Poison Victim Discovered in Car That Had Run Off Highway.

The life of Floyd Elmer Ryan, 21 years old, of 3613 Eleventh street northwest, said to have taken poison with suicidal intent, probably was saved yesterday by Sergt. Earl Burdine, of the Montgomery County Police, who rushed him to Washington Sanitarum at Takoma Park.

Responding to a call that there had been an automobile wreck on the Wheaton-Kensington road near the Seventh street Pike, Sergt. Burdine found Ryan's car had run off the left side of the road and up an embankment. The youth told him he had taken poison. The policeman pushed Rayn into the police car and dashed to the hospital in record time, where a stomach pump was put in action before the poison tablets had time to dissolve. Ryan's condition was reported not serious last night.

Relatives at his home said he had been in ill health for some time. He was an apprentice bookbinder at the Government Printing Office.

"Maniac of Oxon Hill" Insane, Doctors Say

George Lindner, the maniac who barricaded himself in his home at Oxon Hill, Md. for three hours Thursday, yesterday was declared to be of unsound mind by two doctors who examined him at the Marlboro jail. Drs. James I. Boyd and Paul C. Van Natta made the examination.

Lindner, who is 35 years old, blocked the door of his room and refused to come out until a tear gas bomb was thrown into it. What disposition will be made of him has not been decided by county authorities, but it is likely that he will be sent to the asylum at Springfield.

Band Concerts Ending; Lack of Cash Blamed

Lack of funds will make Tuesday's concert by the Navy Band at the District World War Memorial the last of the public parks band concerts of the season, it was announced yesterday by the office of Public Buildings and Public Parks.

The concert will be at 7:30 p. m. as also will be Monday's concert by the Army Band at the memorial.

PLAY IS PRESENTED AT SYLVAN THEATER

"H. M. S. Pinafore" Is Given by Estelle Wentworth Opera Group.

The theatrical dictum that the play's the thing was put to the test last night when the Estelle Wentworth Opera group presented Gilbert and Sullivan's "H. M. S. Pinafore" at the Sylvan Theater as part of the summer festival program.

Lack of the customary naval accouterments failed to militate against the complete enjoyment of Sullivan's most melodious score or Gilbert's perennially applicable satire and humor. Alma Harris was the lass that loved the sailor, Raymond Baine, and not even protestations of Ira P. Meyer, as the Right Hon. Sir Joseph Porter, K. C. B., or of Elliott Button, as Capt. Cochran, could totally overcome the insidious machinations of Deadeye Dick, played by Harry Crow.

But when Little Buttercup (Maxine De Silvia) had confessed to baby-farming and Hebe (Virginia Weedon), together with the other "sisters, cousins and aunts," had fixed up Sir Joseph every one was happy, not only at the successful outcome of the drama but at the exceptionally fine manner in which it was presented and sung.

A special feature was the appearance of Ivy Stevens, as the Midshipmite, who interpolated the sailor's hornpipe in the first act. The entire operetta was staged and directed by Estelle Wentworth.

The final summer festival program will take place Wednesday, when the annual Playground Night will be celebrated, assisted by the United States Army Band.

$4,500 Mining Stocks Robbery Is Reported

A total of $4,500 worth of negotiable mining stocks were reported stolen from the home of Lewis B. Perkins, 718 Eighteenth street northwest, some time within the last two weeks.

Mr. Perkins told detectives of the robbery squad that the stocks, 3 certificates, of 100 shares each, of Butte Copper and Zinc were supposed to have been among some other papers in his desk, but when he went to get them yesterday they were gone. He told police that he might have mislaid the stocks, but he said he searched his home thoroughly.

Woman Sues Cab Firm For $10,000 Damages

Ethel Hodges, 1860 Park road northwest, yesterday filed suit for $10,000 damages from the City Cab Co. for alleged serious personal injuries she suffered December 28, 1930, when a company cab struck her at Twenty-first and K streets northwest.

She asserted she was crossing the street when she was hit. Attorneys George H. Happ and Charles F. Sanford appeared for her.

Miss Katherine O'Keefe Left $121,257 Estate

An estate of $121,257 was left by Miss Katherine O'Keefe, 1341 L street northwest, when she died August 10, it was disclosed in the District Supreme Court yesterday, when the Riggs National Bank, named as executor in the will, filed that document for probate.

St. Matthew's Catholic Church was given $1,000; St. Joseph's Home and School, St. Ann's Infant Asylum, the St. Vincent de Paul Society, the Little Sisters of the Poor and the St. Margaret Mary House were given $100 each by the terms of the will. John O'Keefe, a brother; Margaret O'Keefe Long, a sister; the children of Hannah Quinn and the children of Elizabeth Fealy were named as the principal beneficiaries of the residue.

Shot From Hotel Room Stirs Furor

PolicemanThreatensCrowd With Tear Gas While Arresting Suspect.

A shot fired by an allegedly intoxicated man last night caused a furor in lower Pennsylvania avenue northwest during which a police sergeant in plain clothes threatened to throw tear gas to disperse a crowd which gathered.

Jack Bracey, 38, of 471 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, was arrested by First Precinct police as a result of the disorder. A 32-caliber automatic pistol was found in his possession, police said. Two gallons of alleged whisky were taken from Bracey's room.

When a shot was fired from a room occupied by Bracey in the Mount Vernon Hotel at the Pennsylvania avenue address, pedestrians and idlers scurried to cover. Police responded to an emergency call and met Bracey peaceably coming down the stairs. He was arrested on investigation charges. When a crowd of about 150 gathered around the patrol wagon, the incensed police sergeant threatened to use tear gas. More than a score of policemen were present.

Police Say Man Took Poison After Quarrel

Walter Herberson, 24, of 6408 Georgia avenue, was in serious condition at Emergency Hospital last night as a result of swallowing a quantity of poison. His act followed a quarrel with Miss Bertha Alderman, of the same address, yesterday afternoon, police said.

The Rescue Squad, an ambulance and a private physician, Dr. Daniel B. Washington, administered first aid.

INQUEST SET IN AUTO ACCIDENT FATAL TO 3

Responsibility for Deaths of Two Capital Girls and Man to Be Determined.

Responsibility for the deaths of two Washington schoolgirls and a man companion, who were fatally injured early yesterday in an automobile accident on the Crain highway near Fort George G. Meade, will be determined Monday night at a coroner's inquest.

One of the girls, Miss Yolanda Sorivi, 16 years old, of 1745 Eighteenth street northwest, was instantly killed. Her classmate at Business High School, Miss Ada Murray, 18 years old, of 1919 Nineteenth street northwest, died an hour later in an Annapolis hospital.

The driver of the machine in which the girls were riding, W. Ellison Umberger, 21, of Wytheville, Va., was also killed outright. He and Miss Sorivi were thrown clear of the wreckage.

Struck by Furniture Van.

Maryland State police said their light sedan was struck by a furniture van. Umberger's car came onto the highway from the Fort Meade road at a point known as Anderson's Corner. Milton H. Melling, of Severn, Md., who police reported, was driving the truck, said he did all in his power to avoid the collision.

Melling declared the car shot from the side road without a warning. He told police he swerved his big truck in an effort to avoid striking the machine, almost overturning.

Umberger's car careened from the road and turned over three times. He and Miss Sorivi were thrown several feet from the demolished machine, which burst into flames.

Miss Murray was trapped in the rear seat by the blaze. She was badly crushed and probably would have been severely burned had it not been for prompt acton of passersby, who extinguished the fire. Rushed to Emergency Hospital in Annapolis, Miss Murray was pronounced dead an hour later.

Identification Confused.

Early reports confused identification of Miss Murray. It was at first thought she was Catherine Selraggio, 16 years old, a friend of Miss Sorivi. Miss Selraggio was later located here. A letter carried by Miss Murray, bearing the former's name, caused the mistake.

Melling was arrested by State police, but later released to appear at the coroner's inquest.

Mrs. Adelmo Sorivi, mother of Yolanda, said the trio had been visiting friends in Anne Arundel County and were returning to Washington when the accident occurred.

The two girls were second-year students at Business High. Besides her mother, Miss Sorivi is survived by her father, a brother, Frank, and two sisters, Mrs. Mary Dewhirst and Mrs. Vincent Tonelli.

Surviving Miss Murray are her mother, Mrs. Ethel M. Murray and two brothers, Lawrence and William.

Woman and Girl Injured in Crash

Wife of State Senator Rust, of Fairfax, and Their Daughter Victims.

Mrs. John W. Rust, wife of State Senator Rust, of Fairfax, Va., was injured yesterday afternoon when the car in which she was riding was in collision with a car driven by V. E. Ramsey, of Drivers, Va. The accident occurred at the Chain Bridge road and the new Lee highway cutoff.

The car in which Mrs. Rust was riding was driven by her daughter, Warwick, who escaped injury. Her other daughter, Eleanor, suffered several cuts and other injuries. Mrs. Rust was cut about the head and shoulders. They were treated by Dr. Ford Swetnam, of Fairfax.

According to police, the Rust car was headed east on the Chain Bridge when it was struck from behind by the other car which threw it into the bridge, hurtling Mrs. Rust against the concrete bridge rail.

Two Plunge 20 Feet As Scaffold Breaks

Accident in Hyattsville May Prove Fatal to Capital Men.

Plunging 20 feet to the ground when a scaffolding gave way on a house they were painting in Hyattsville, Md., two Washington men were brought to Casualty Hospital late yesterday with injuries that may prove fatal.

Marion Thomas, 42, of 3567 Wade street northwest, and Clarence Wood, 30, of 219 H street northwest, were working on the scaffold. The supporting ropes suddenly gave way, dropping the two men to the ground.

They were taken to the hospital by the Bladensburg Rescue Squad. It was found Thomas suffered a possible fracture of the skull, while Wood received a possible fracture of the back.

THE NEW CINEMA OFFERINGS

LOEW'S FOX

"THE PAINTED WOMAN." Fox picturization of A. C. Kennedy's play, "After the Rain," adapted to the screen by Guy Bolton and Leon Gordon, featuring Peggy Shannon, Spencer Tracy, William Boyd and Irving Pichel. Directed by John Blystone. Reviewed Friday afternoon.

By NELSON B. BELL.

Her vivid natural coloring accentuated by a stunning costume of flowing white satin and flaming scarlet, Pola Negri, one of the first of the cinema's European stars to bring the glamour of an inscrutable personality to the American screen, completely dominates the entertainment current at Loew's Fox. This is rather more of a tribute than meets the eye, for "Is This Love?" the languorous little skit in which the Polish star appears as chief luminary of the vaudeville portion of the bill, is a placid and not overly clever bit of fluff which may boast the single major virtue of affording the Negri repeated opportunities to sing "Paradise," which she does extremely well in a mellow mezzo.

The merit of her vehicle, however, seems to have no bearing upon the warmth of Negri's public welcome. The applause that greets the conclusion of her brief act is no less thunderous than that which explodes spontaneously upon her shrewdly devised entrance. Hers is a hold upon the imagination of her admirers that a mere three years' absence from the silver sheet has not at all sufficed to break. Pola Negri is one of the vibrant and vital figures of the modern theater and can not be reckoned otherwise.

Scarcely less colorful and exciting in the view of any audience is Georges Carpentier, former French pugilist, who shares headline honors with Miss Negri. There is nothing of the pug about Gorgeous Georges now. He is, instead, a nimble and engaging singing and dancing comedian, who makes a decidedly pleasing impression, surrounded by a group of clever young women. While, like Jim Corbett and others who have preceded him from the ring to the rostrum, he capitalizes his defeat by Dempsey as a source of comic banter, Georges is a competent and thoroughgoing musical comedy star whose obvious ability does not need to be bolstered by a past reputation.

On the screen, Peggy Shannon comes nearer than ever before demonstrating why her sponsors originally proclaimed her the legitimate successor to the red-headed preeminence of Clara Bow. In and as "The Painted Woman," this gifted young actress is alert, alive and alluring. Her character is indigenous to the flamboyant type of South Sea melodrama in which she appears, but becomes less stereotyped in her hands than would otherwise be the case. Spencer Tracy, William Boyd, and Irving Pichel are congenially cast as ex-Marine, sailing-ship captain and renegade lawyer, and in every other respect the picture runs true to a familiar and interesting formula that seldom betrays the box office.

In addition to those already mentioned, the vaudeville bill embraces the extraordinary juggling of Wilfred Du Bois; Miss Patricola's ardent balading and Joe Phillips & Co., in "Under the Bridge," which is where most of his comedy belongs.

The Fox Movietone News and "Rio Rita" overture, which Phil Lampkin has embellished with a vocal interpolation by Austin Shaw in person, and the Texas Rangers in action on the screen, complete an extravagant amusement value.

PALACE

"THE LAST MILE." World Wide-Tiffany picturization of a play by John Wexley, featuring Preston Foster, Howard Phillips, George Stone and Noel Madison. Directed by Sam Bischoff. Reviewed Friday evening by W. A. Whitney.

In "The Last Mile" is depicted the starkest aspect of the whole fabric of prison drama, the death house, bringing to the screen in its most unlovely form all the horror of the condemned man's last hours. From the introductory statement by Sing Sing's warden, Lewis E. Lawes, to the eleventh-hour reprieve, this is easily the most eloquent argument that has yet been advanced for the abolition of the death penalty.

A narrative revolving around a conviction on circumstantial evidence, complicated by a cold-blooded, butchering revolt of the death house's inmates, furnishes the skeleton of plot on which the incidents of unvarnished realism are hung, and, as a story, pales into insignificance in the light of the greater sociological preachment it unfolds.

From the sordid details of the "last mile" no time out is allowed for anything which might even remotely be termed "comedy relief," but notwithstanding the dramatic tenseness of the situations, Director Bischoff has woven a subtlety into the footage that mitigates its awful, nerve-wracking strain.

No one of the all-male cast is predominant, each in his turn taking the center of the stage. Suffice it to say that those mentioned in the italicized paragraph above, and the other unmentioned supporting players, are admirably cast.

Rounding out the bill and affording the comedy lacking from the feature, are Za Su Pitts and Thelma Todd, in "Show Business;" a release of the "Sports Champions" series, "Snow Birds" and an issue of the Hearst Metrotone News.

RKO-KEITH'S

"THE NIGHT CLUB LADY." Columbia Pictures' filmization of Anthony Abbott's novel, "Murder of the Night Club Lady," adapted to the screen by Robert Riskin, featuring Adolphe Menjou, Mayo Methot and "Skeets" Gallagher, with Ruthelma Stevens, Blanche Frederici, Albert Conti and Greta Granstedt. Directed by Irving Cummings. Previewed last Saturday midnight.

By leavening a Grade A murder mystery, involving three baffling homicides, with a strong vein of comedy and peopling it with a group of sharply etched characters, those who fashioned this admirable adaptation of a thrilling book into 80 minutes of celluloid excitement succeeded in imbuing an overworked form of screen entertainment with a touch of genuine novelty.

The lethal instrument through which the deaths are brought about will not be easily guessed by even the most acutely analytical of the picture's spectators and the perpetrators of the crimes, therefore, will remain proportionately obscure until it becomes the author's deliberate purpose to make their identities known.

This, of course, insures an element of sustained suspense and the secure preeminence of "The Night Club Lady" as an infallible source of thrilling exercises in deduction. It is, as a matter of fact, one of the most skillfully contrived of the season's numerous succession of police-and-crime plays.

Columbia has been especially deft in its allotment of pivotal parts. Adolphe Menjou, as the keenly alert police commissioner, Thatcher Colt, is particularly well cast and contributes a performance no less authoritative and engaging than his surprise enactment of the role of the managing editor in "The Front Page." By a clever bit of counterplay he is made the foil of the greater part of "Skeets" Gallagher's constant flow of banter in the character of Colt's bibulous friend, Tony. Together, the two maintain a fine balance of the serious and the frivolous—an enterprise in which they are in some degree assisted by Nat Pendleton and Greta Granstedt, as a dumb detective and a frightened maid.

The direction is for the most part unimpeachable, although there never was a play of this character that did not utilize an arbitrary premise or two that would not bear the acid test of logic. The settings are quite in the spirit and atmosphere of a fable which concerns itself only with the haunts of the criminally affluent and those addicted to extravagant creature comforts. Not a scene but is well lighted and effectively photographed.

A Frank McHugh newspaper comedy, "Extra! Extra!" adds to the prestige of a pretty swell series about "Pete Burke, reporter;" "Screen Snapshots" presents a rodeo on Hoot Gibson's ranch; "Farmer Alfalfa's Ape Girl" is a lively cartoon comedy, and the Pathe News and broadcasts of the radio audition contest help to fulfill the promise of a "Greater Show Season." I wouldn't be sure about the entire season, but this is most certainly one of the greater of the magic lantern shows. N. B. B.

METROPOLITAN

"MAKE ME A STAR." Paramount picturization of Harry Leon Wilson's "Merton of the Movies," adapted to the screen by Sam Mintz, Walter De Leon and Arthur Kober from the stage play by George S. Kaufman and Marc Connelly, starring Stuart Erwin and Joan Blondell. Directed by William Beaudine. Reviewed Friday night by Dorothea Lewis.

If this picture had nothing else (it has though), than the flawless piece of casting whereby Stuart Erwin plays Merton Gill and plays him to a fare-you-well, it would be notable. It would be practically impossible to be better than Glenn Hunter, whose name is written indelibly on the role, but Erwin is every bit as good, performing with absolute sincerity and understanding.

Very little time is devoted to the usual Hollywood glitter which clutters up so many behind-the-scenes dramas, and this is only right, for Merton Gill is a simple soul drawn to Hollywood, as he will tell you himself, not by the glitter, or the money, but by an indescribable something inside "like wanting to paint a picture." Several stars do pop interestingly in and out of set doorways just to make Hollywood Hollywood.

Merton's story is by this time almost as familiar as your next-door neighbor. It's all almost the same as it has been before, which is vastly, chucklingly amusing and, at times, deeply moving, though for some strange, lamentable reason, the grand and uproarious scene with the store dummies is missing and we saw the dummies, too, standing right there in the emporium waiting for their moment which never comes.

It's a little hard to believe that there could be an innocent such as Merton, but Erwin's mighty convincing about it. He may surprise you, he is so very excellent. Little blonde, pert Joan Blondell is thoroughly lovable and workmanlike as "Flips" Montague. Charles Sellon, as Mr. Gashwiler, of Gashwiler's Emporium, and Sam Hardy, as Comedy-Director Jeff Baird, are fine, while Helen Jerome Eddy, Ruth Donnelly and ZaSu Pitts all add greatly.

Arthur Tracy (the "Street Singer") in unusually fine voice, is featured in an entertaining song short; while the sister art of terpsichore is interestingly revealed in a travelogue of folk dancing in many countries. The newsreel completes a very good bill.

Invitation to Old Ironsides.

EARLE

"DOCTOR X." First National picturization of a play by Howard W. Comstock and Allen C. Miller, adapted to the screen by Robert Tasker and Earl Baldwin, featuring Lionel Atwill, Fay Wray and Lee Tracy, with Robert Warwick, Preston Foster, John Wray and Arthur Edmund Carewe. Directed by Michael Curtiz. Reviewed Friday afternoon.

Here, certainly, the horror picture must find its ultima thule!

Combining the most harrowing qualities of "Jekyl and Hyde," "Dracula," "Frankenstein" and "White Zombie," this exquisitely thrilling subject goes still further in the direction of gruesomeness and terror by utilizing science's latest developments in electrosis and clinical surgery to fathom a mystery of murder, criminal assault and cannibalism in the very shadow of a great city's most distinguished medical center. A ghastly realism earlier chills-and-fever films have not been able to boast is lent "Doctor X" by the employment of natural color photography throughout its length—the first application, I believe, of the Technicolor process to this type of drama, and an eminently successful one.

The eerie quality of the play is emphasized by the fact that the fiendish killer who wanders through the city always launches his homicidal excursions on the stroke of midnight in the chill light of a full moon and leaves no trace beyond the marks of strangulation on his victims and an incision at the base of the brain by a special type of scalpel. The police enlist the aid of Doctor Xavier, head of the Academy of Science, in their search for the murderer. He at once puts into execution a series of analytical tests to which the four foremost members of his faculty are subjected—along with himself. What happens under their very eyes and how the discovery of the secret of the killings is brought to light give powerful and hair-raising point to the climacteric moments of one of the most enthralling melodramas in the prevalent horror cycle.

The tenseness of the action and the hair-trigger suspense that characterizes so many of the scenes are mitigated by a steady flow of comedy that emanates from the seemingly futile activities of a never-say-die newspaper reporter, played in his naturalistic style by Lee Tracy, one of the most facile of the current crop of comedians.

Lionel Atwill, in the title role, and Fay Wray, as his daughter, are pivotal figures in the exciting developments, to which bewilderment is added by John Wray, Preston Foster, Harry Beresford, George Roesner, Arthur Edmund Carewe, Robert Warwick, Willard Robertson, Leila Bennett, Tom Dugan and numerous others.

Everett Marshall, operatic barytone, and Hal Le Roy, youthful dancer, share equally in topline honors in the vaudeville portion of the program and in applause. Each is supreme in his field. The others introduced by Miss Maxine Doyle, mistress of ceremonies, are Arthur and Morton Havel, in a humorous skit in which they are assisted by two young women and a character man, and the Carr Brothers and Betty, among the greatest of the gymnasts.

Universal News, with Graham McNamee; Tom Howard in "Pro and Con," not up to his best, and an amusing "Screen Souvenir" augment a bill that deftly touches extremes of hilarity and horror. N. B. B.

COLUMBIA

"BACHELOR'S FOLLY." A Gainsborough picture distributed by World Wide, from Edgar Wallace's play, "The Calendar," starring Herbert Marshall and Edna Best. Directed by T. Hayes Hunter. Reviewed Friday night by J. F. Brady.

"Bachelor's Folly" is an interesting drama, excellently played and well cast. It is a type of story different from the usual run, in the strictly English manner, but with a sufficiency of race track thrill to ease over the lack of comedy that might easily have resulted in a drab story.

Herbert Marshall plays the character of Garry Anson, the reputed millionaire owner of race horses. Garry is the bachelor around whose "folly" the story revolves.

Edna Best, as Jill Panniford, the sister of Lord Panniford, whose wife (Anne Grey), the lady for whom Garry is willing to sacrifice his reputation, adds wonderful interest to the story, is sweet and beautiful, and with her peculiar accent puts over her work to the satisfaction of any audience. She it is who really loves Garry, and who at last makes Garry see his bachelor's folly.

In "Bachelor's Folly" we are treated to some excellent shots of a famous English track and a real horse race, the milling crowds, the enthusiastic groups and the despondency of the losers.

It so happens that just before a big race Garry decides to withdraw his horse and the more he does about it the deeper in trouble he gets, till he decides again to run it. The horse loses, and because of unsportsmanlike methods he is called before the club board of inquiry and is disbarred from the track. Then he goes to claim his "nest egg" in the keeping of Lady Panniford, who has considered it as a "gift." Of course, the climax places Garry before the husband in an embarrassing position, but the story fades out well.

Supporting the feature is the Paramount News, a snappy comedy, "High Hats;" an interesting travelogue "Maori Land," and the opening of a series of racketeer sttories, titled "Vagabonds Abroad."

COURT RULES KILLER OF DOCTOR IS INSANE

Cassel, Tightly Bound, Taken to Famous Hall Ward at St. Elizabeths.

His hands bound tightly together to restrain him from a possible physical outbreak, Frank Cassell, demented World War veteran who shot and killed Dr. Victor A. Aimone, superintendent of Mount Alto Hospital July 13, yesterday was taken before a lunacy jury in the District Supreme Court and was formally adjudicated to be of unsound mind.

Cassel, known as an exceedingly dangerous man because of his frequent violent attacks upon deputy marshals and others, was taken straight from the courtroom to a cell in the famous Howard Hall ward at St. Elizabeths Hospital, where he will be given treatment for paranoia.

Should he ever regain his sanity, he can be tried for the murder of Dr. Aimone, Assistant United States Attorney Julian Richards said. He has been indicted on that charge and the indictment will be held against him.

Dr. D. Percy Hickling, District alienist, was the only witness. He testified that in his opinion the man was insane. Questions were asked Cassel but he refused to answer. He shot Dr. Aimone at Mount Alto without provocation or warning, simply jumping to his feet in a waiting room and firing at the physician. He did not attempt to escape.

Veterans' Furlough System Protested

Col. Grant Is Requested to Rescind Order on Disabled Men.

A request that Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, director of Public Buildings and Public Parks, rescind his order furloughing veterans suffering from service-connected disabilities, in excess of the furlough of their able-bodied coworkers, has been sent to Director Grant by the Departmental executive committee of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War.

While Col. Grant has always given preference to veterans in appointments to position as guards, the resolution said, in his execution of the administrative furloughs he has furloughed veterans in excess of the time which other guards have been furloughed.

The resolution said that the non-disabled guard is in a much better position to obtain temporary employment outside the Federal service during the furlough period than the disabled veteran.
